London Hints 'Liquidation'

MOSCOW, Sept. 1—Col. Andrei A. Zhdanov, Politburo member, a founder of the Cominform and hero of Stalingrad, lay in state today in one of Moscow's most impressive buildings.

Thousands of bereaved Russians filed silently past the coffin of the 52-year-old Soviet hero whose death from paralysis of the heart was announced yesterday.

His body will lie in state in the Hall of Columns of the House of the Union prior to a full state funeral in Red Square tomorrow.

All Russian newspapers were black-bordered today in honor of Zhdanov, and all published lengthy obituaries in praise of the man.

Premier Marshal Stalin and other prominent Soviet leaders affixed their names to the words of eulogy.

IN LONDON, British newspapers raised the possibility that Zhdanov may have been "liquidated."

The newspapers reported recent rumors that Zhdanov, named prominently as a successor to Stalin, had been at odds with Foreign Minister V. M. (Continued on Page Two)

Pickaway Countians searched for heavier blankets Wednesday as the weather bureau forecast another cool night for most of the state.

Householders were forced to get out extra covering Tuesday night as the mercury fell to as low as 38 degrees in Zanesville and 39 at East Liverpool. Circleville recorded a low of 44.

Forecasters said that it might be of some consolation to know that neighboring Pennsylvania recorded a low of 29 at Philipsburg.

They added that although it will remain cool Wednesday night, the mercury will rise Thursday afternoon.

Commanders Following Dictates Of Lengthy Confab In Kremlin

BERLIN, Sept. 1—The four military governors of Germany began their second conference on Berlin about noon today.

The beginning of the meeting was delayed for about five minutes by the late arrival of Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky.

Even as the meeting opened, there was mounting belief that the talks may lead to a quick end of the 10-week-old Russian blockade of the former German capital.

A British spokesman added that "the same secrecy which attended the Moscow talks will be maintained."

Yesterdays face-to-face meeting around the conference table of the four commanders was the first concrete result of the drawn-out Moscow talks.

In attendance today were the four commanders — Americas Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Russians Sokolovsky, Britains Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, and Frances Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig—and members of their staffs.

They met in the Allied Control Authority building—scene of a dramatic Soviet walkout last March which widened the East-West rift.

Two other four-power conference groups — a finance and transport committee — were to meet in the former German capital today to discuss currency and blockade problems.

Disclosure that the talks were to deal with making the Russian mark the only legal tender in Berlin sent the Western Deutschemark rapidly skidding on the city's free money market.

Many officially licensed money exchange booths closed down to await clarification of the situation.

Yesterdays talks marked the first time in five months that the four-power commanders in Germany have conferred together.

Big Hurricane Still At Sea

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—The weather bureau announced today that the Atlantic hurricane was 400 miles east of Atlantic City this morning and moving northeast.

In a special report, the bureau added that "while no dangerous winds are expected on the coast, storm warnings have been ordered from Block Island to Provincetown and small craft warnings from Provincetown around the inner cape to Portland, Me.

Schuman Again Gets Premiership

Reds, DeGaullists To Miss Cabinet

PARIS, Sept. 1—Premier Robert Schuman met in urgent consultation today with France's "third force" leaders in an effort to form a stable cabinet.

Indications were that Schuman will seek a coalition cabinet drawn from centrist groups, and rightwing followers of Gen. Charles DeGaulle.

The national assembly at night approved Schuman as premier by a vote of 322-185. Rightwing adherents of DeGaulle, who favor new elections, abstained. The Communist bloc furnished the opposition votes.

Schuman last November took over the reins of government with a middle-of-the-road cabinet which succeeded in weathering a series of Communist-led strikes. His regime fell, however, last month when Socialist deputies voted against his military budget.

West Germany Cornerstone Laid

BONN, Sept. 1—The cornerstone of an eventual government for Western Germany was laid in this ancient university city today in solemn defiance of unbroken Soviet opposition.

Seventy delegates representing the 11 western states of Germany, as well as five guest members from Berlin who braved Russian displeasure and reprisals attended.

The main item for consideration was the final draft of a constitutional federation of German states, whose legal, political and geographical boundaries are undefined.

Strike Ends

CHICAGO, Sept. 1—The two-week-old International Harvester strike, involving 24,000 employees at seven plants in the Midwest, was settled here today.

FIRST CRASH VICTIM of the 1948 National Air Races is Robert Huggins, 41, of Milwaukee, shown in a Berea hospital bed. Goeller Offers Educators Option On Tract Here

Circleville board of education was offered option on a new site for its proposed northend elementary school building program Tuesday night.

Offer was made by John Goeller, who told board members he would sell his five-acre plot of ground on Atwater avenue near Wilson avenue at "a reasonable price."

Board members refused to reveal the amount of the "reasonable price."

Goeller, who owns a large amount of land in the vicinity of the plot now offered, was approached by the board earlier this summer in regards to a section of land on Atwater avenue near Seyfert avenue.

No action was taken since board members found the price affixed by Goeller far exceeded its budget for land purchase.

THE BOARD still retains its option on the 15 acre Zwicker plot, which is south of Northridge Road and east of Pickaway street.

The optioned Zwicker land is being held at a price of $12,000 for the 15 acres. Goeller had said he would not sell the 2.7 acre section formerly eyed by the board for less than $18,000.

CIO Backs Truman

Money, Votes Assured Demos

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—CIO President Philip Murray today personally assured President Truman of the CIO's support and financial aid in the election campaign.

Murray and members of the CIO executive committee conferred with the President at the White House. Their visit followed the committees decision yesterday to support Mr. Truman in the November election.

The CIO president said that the CIO's Political Action Committee will contribute funds in support of the Truman campaign and will support other Democratic candidates who favor the CIO legislative program.

Murray said that in event discussion arises within the CIO on political issues "we will carry (Continued on Page Two)

Schacht Freed Again By Court Trying Nazis

STUTTGART, Sept. 1—Hjalmar Schacht, financial expert in Adolf Hitler's regime, was acquitted by a German court today on charges of being a Nazi offender.

The court swept aside the charges against Schacht who has spent most of the time since Germany's defeat in prison and praised him for having inspired numerous plots against Hitler's life.

Countians Eye Health Contest

Pickaway County 4-H Club boys and girls are eyeing one of the biggest events of the Ohio State Fair this week, hoping for a local victory in the "Healthiest Ohio 4-H Club Boy and Girl" contest to be held Friday.

Barbara Moss of the Saltcreek Victory Stitches and George Courtwright of the Duvall Go-Getters are the Pickaway County representatives entered in the contest. They were selected by a three-man committee which based its judgment on records of 4-H Club activities and the health records recently compiled by Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner.

Red Plot To Destroy U.S. Told

Peters Pinned By Testimony

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—J. V. Peters was pictured today as having boasted that he was getting "important information in Washington and Hollywood and influencing government agencies in the Moscow plot against the United States."

The testimony was given by Louis F. Budenz, former Communist and ex-editor of The Daily Worker. It was given at the deportation hearing of Peters, alias Alexander Stevens.

Budenz said that he often met with Russian secret police in New York, in the Red conspiracy, led by Peters, to destroy the United States "by blood and force."

The former editor, now a professor at Fordham university, was questioned by Examining Inspector Edward Emanuel concerning his relations with Peters.

He named Peters as "one of three undercover Communists who instructed the national committee of the Communist Party on tactics and strategy."

BUDENZ was asked: "What were some of the things Peters told you in various conversations he had with you?"

"In 1936, Peters told me that I didn't know anything about the conspiratorial apparatus, the most important part of the Communist Party. He told me that the Communist Party was like a submerged submarine and that I only saw the periscope."

Budenz added: "Several months later he told me that he was engaged in obtaining important information in Washington and Hollywood. And, also, that he was working on influencing high officials in the (Continued on Page Two)

Here Is Starting Lineup Of General Electric Chieftains Who Will Operate New $2.5 Million Plant In Circleville

Nine key men, who will be responsible for the operation of the General Electric Company's $2.5 million Circleville lamp works, were to be placed on virtually a fulltime basis here Wednesday.

As a result, Sept. 1, 1948, can be written down as the date when the first wheel began to turn at the new fluorescent lamp manufacturing plant.

Their appearance here means the day is not too far away when GE will start employing the approximately 500 persons the firm will need to reach peak production.

Construction engineers are rapidly completing the Circleville plant and report they are far ahead of their own schedule.

GE officials have declared since the first spade of dirt was turned here last Winter that the first GE fluorescent lamp will be completed "before the start of the new year."

Construction engineers claim they will turn the plant over to GE "before snow flies."

How soon GE will start hiring local people remained an unanswered question Wednesday.

Company officials already have inserted two "help wanted" advertisements in The Circleville Herald. One called for an experienced bookkeeper while the second desired a registered nurse.

GE officials remained mum Wednesday as to whether they had made a decision on either position.

The nine top men are headed by the plant manager, Edward G. Grigg, long a GE operations engineer and already well-known in Circleville.

Several GE chieftains have been on deck here as they set up the compact inner-circle which will guide the big factory, destined to give this city an annual payroll of $1 million.

About three months after Grigg appeared officially on the local scene, he announced the appointment of the new plant's master mechanic — Clay T. Vaughan.

Then the identity of the chief engineer, A. R. (Dick) Boerner, was announced.

He was followed to Circleville by the production manager, Harry Diehl.

Last Monday, Grigg announced his selection of the foreman and engineer for the cathode coating department — Richard A. Jacek.

Tuesday, the four remaining GE supervisors — manufacturing foremen—were appointed. They are E. W. Hoch, R. H. Peterson, E. G. Shutt and H. B. Spencer.

That makes up the starting nine in the local lineup.

They represent a group of comparatively young men, especially trained by GE and all anxious to become vital cogs in the Circleville community, as well as to assure top production of GE's main product here—the "Slimline" fluorescent tube—an eight-foot lamp which represents a major step forward in fluorescent lighting.

Grigg, a native of Baltimore, Md., retains a Virginia accent acquired in Richmond. A graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, he has been with GE since about 1936.

He has served GE in Pittsfield, Mass., Philadelphia, Schenectady, Jackson, Miss., Buffalo and Nela Park, near Cleveland.

Master Mechanic Vaughan will be the man charged with the care of the vast factory building here.

A GE employe since 1930, Vaughan attended the University of Buffalo, Hiram college and Case School of Applied Sciences. He previously had been assigned by GE to plants in Buffalo, Youngstown, Warren and East Cleveland.

Chief Engineer Boerner, virtually will be a teacher when the new plant gets underway. His will be the task of training the estimated 500 persons who eventually will be hired by GE here.

A director of technical operations, Boerner will conduct the approximately 480 tests and inspections used in the finishing of a GE Slimline lamp.

A graduate of Iowa State college, Boerner has been with GE since 1943.

Jacek, an engineer for the cathode coating department, has been with GE for 13 years. A graduate of Case Institute, he has been assigned to the Cleveland plant.

In the coating department here, Jacek will supervise that delicate operation required as the tube is prepared to carry the flow of current in becoming a fluorescent lamp.

The four manufacturing foremen have been appointed to fill the last major positions in the Circleville lamp works.

General Foreman Shutt has been with GE since 1942, and transferred here from the Mattoon (Illinois) lamp works, where he was shift foreman. His home town is Bucyrus. With him in Circleville will be his wife and two children.

Hoch attended Case Institute in Cleveland, his home town. He joined the lamp department in 1929, and was employed in the fluorescent department of the Nela lamp works before his appointment in Circleville. His wife and two children will take up residence here.

Spencer hails from Mississippi, and has been transferred from the Jackson lamp works. An employe there since 1941, he was a mechanic prior to his switch to Circleville. He and his wife will reside here.

Peterson also comes from Mattoon where he began his employment with GE in 1946. He was a maintenance mechanic prior to his Circleville appointment. The new foreman was a Navy aerial gunner during the last war. He and his wife were due to arrive here Wednesday.

The last egg-and-tomato-throwing incident occurred in Hickory yesterday when the former vice-president attempted to address a heckling crowd of 3,000 persons.

At least 24 tomatoes and a half dozen eggs were hurled at Wallace, but none struck him. However, he was forced to stop his speech when boos and heckling drowned out his remarks.

His last address in North Carolina before a small crowd of 200 persons here, was not marred by any pelting incident, and there was as much applause as heckling. It was a marked change from Wallace's earlier receptions in the Tar Heel state.

Molotov, whose chances for succession to the No. 1 government spot was said now to be strengthened.

The London Daily Telegraph pointed out that prior to the Russian announcement of the death of Zhdanov, "no whisper had emerged from Russia or any other part of the world that Zhdanov was a sick man."

The newspaper continued: "While the probabilities are that Zhdanov died of an unspecified illness, the possibility that he was 'liquidated' as many others cannot entirely be disregarded."

Whether this is true, Zhdanov recently encountered considerable difficulties in his work which cannot have increased his reputation, high as it was within the Politburo.

"If Zhdanov died naturally, his last months were not free from anxiety. Death would appear to strengthen Molotov's chances of being the successor to Stalin."

Benes Condition Worse; Death Being Awaited

PRAGUE, Sept. 1.—The condition of former Czechoslovak President Dr. Eduard Benes, 64, who has slipped into unconsciousness, worsened today.

Reports reaching Prague from Benes' country home at Sezimovo Usti said that the symptoms of paralysis of the arterial and motor nerves continue to develop.

The ailing patriot president, who refused to sign the constitution of the coup-created Communist government and resigned last June 7, has been in virtual seclusion since.

His last public appearance was a tearful one at the funeral of former Foreign Minister Jan G. Masaryk, whose death was reported by the Communists as due to suicide following the Red seizure of power in February.

Benes, as a young man, was associated with the elder Thomas Masaryk in the creation of the Czech republic. Since that time his name has been synonymous with Czech democracy.

When Czechoslovakia fell under Communist domination, Benes—who had hoped that his nation might serve as a bridge of friendship between East and West—suffered in health and spirit.

Earlier bulletins said that he suffered from arteriosclerosis and termed his condition "extremely serious." It added that he lost consciousness yesterday morning and was so weakened that it "reduces any hope he will recover."

Firemen Douse 2 Minor Blazes

Circleville firemen were called to quench two blazes Tuesday afternoon, one in the Ralston-Purina plant and the other in the middle of the street near the intersections of Mingo and East Mound streets.

The Ralston-Purina plant call was made at 2:30 p. m. when a conveyor belt on a grain elevator "choked up." Damage was confined to the belt.

Other Tuesday fire was at 4:45 p. m. when firemen put out a blaze in a street barricade on East Mound street. Fire Chief Talmer Wise said the fire was started by youngsters, who tipped over a street flare.

TROOP 121

Members of Boy Scout Troop 121 held their first Fall roundup meeting Tuesday evening in their cabin along Darby creek.

A Weiner roast, campfire program, stunts and games occupied the boys during the evening.

Saturday, the troop will have an overnight hike to the cabin.

Sept. 7 will be the first indoor meeting at 7 p. m. in the Presbyterian church.

TROOP 107

Boy Scout Troop 107 of First Methodist church will have a court of honor ceremony at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the church.

At that time, advancement awards will be presented boys who earned them during the Summer. Incentive services will be conducted for new Scouts.

Vernon Blake, troop committee chairman, will be in charge of the rites. Films are also scheduled to be shown during the evening.

Kingfish's Son Running Behind

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1.—Appeals Court Judge Robert F. Kennon led Russell Long, 29-year-old son of the late Huey P. Long, by more than 6,000 votes today with more than two-thirds of the precincts reporting in Louisiana's major senatorial primary contest.

Tabulations from 1,317 of the state's 1,883 precincts gave the Minden, La., jurist 196,634 votes to 190,206 for Long in the race for the two-year unexpired term of the late U. S. Sen. John H. Overton. New Orleans swelled Kennon's total with a 24,000-vote majority.

Gotham Truckers Start Walkout

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—New York police reported that 20,000 truck drivers went on strike today to enforce wage demands and the stoppage has virtually shut off the city's normal trucking business.

They said only a few trucks moved through the city and many of them carried only perishable foods.

A union spokesman said that nine other unions in Westchester County, Long Island and parts of New Jersey, with a membership of 20,000, are prepared to follow suit.

Police Continue Gambling Raids

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Cleveland police continued their cleanup program on policy racketeers today with still another policy center knocked out of action.

Police authorities yesterday also won their battle in the court of appeals to hold John S. Horvatin, 24-year-old bombing suspect, in prison under $100,000 bail.

Michael A. Picciano, lawyer for Horvatin, said that he would not attempt further applications for writs to release Horvatin.

ENDORSEMENT of the Truman-Barkley ticket by a majority of the CIO executive board indicated that at least five million members of that organization will vote Democratic.

Heads of 12 CIO unions, representing another million or so workers, refused to go along with the majority and stuck by their earlier pledge to support Third Party Candidate Henry A. Wallace.

This does not mean, however, that members of the dissident unions will necessarily follow their leaders. Similarly, it does not mean the five million will vote for Truman.

Meanwhile, President Truman is preparing to open his own speaking campaign with a major address in Detroit on Labor Day. The President has also scheduled talks in five other Michigan cities on the same day.

Stolen Bonds To Be Returned To Van Aken

COLUMBUS, Sept. 1.—Mayor Van Aken of Shaker Heights will get back at least $14,000 of the $65,000 in bonds stolen three years ago, as the result of a false parole shakedown report in Columbus.

Governor Herbert said the $14,000 in bonds had been recovered from a stovepipe in a Columbus rooming house and Tom West, 35; Clarence Jones, 30, and Mary Toone, 28, were under arrest. Mrs. Ero Rector, wife of Gaylord Rector, London farm prisoner, was picked up in Cleveland.

Rector is in jail for the theft of the bonds from Van Aken's office.

Herbert said an investigation was started two weeks ago when Rector reported his wife had paid money to a former London prisoner who claimed he could get Rector a parole. From Mrs. Rector, the trail led to the Columbus police.

Miss Toone was discovered to have one of the missing bonds in her possession. Seventeen more bonds were found in the room of her friend, West. Mrs. Rector was held pending investigation to determine whether she knew the location of the remainder of the bonds.

The investigators said the story of the attempted bribery was only an attempt to cover up disposal of the bonds.

'Healer' Takes $5,225 In Cash

NORWALK, Sept. 1.—A statewide search was underway today for an admitted "healer" who swindled an invalid Norwalk housewife out of $5,225 in cash and two diamond rings valued at $800.

The healer, according to the housewife, talked her into undergoing a series of massages with a sum of money wrapped and tied in a bundle near the pain areas.

The woman, who has been ill several years, told police she drew her savings out of bank to undertake the treatment.

Monday, however, she said she decided to check on the contents of the package. She said she found only neatly folded paper.

Movie Stars Smoke Muggles

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1.—Federal narcotics agents reported today the arrest of Screen Actor Robert Mitchum and Starlet Lila Leeds on charges of smoking marijuana.

The officers said the 31-year-old star had admitted being an "occasional" marijuana smoker during the past two years.

Mitchum and Miss Leeds were arrested last night by Los Angeles and federal narcotic agents with Robin Ford, 31, a friend of Mitchum, and Vicki Evans, 25, Miss Leeds' roommate.

The September term of Pickaway County common pleas court opened officially Wednesday when Sheriff Charles Radcliff, acting as bailiff, called the court into session.

Pickaway County draft registration was halted for approximately one minute when in the presence of Judge William D. Radcliff all in attendance were required to stand and hear the reading.

On hand were three registrars, two draft registrants and two lawyers. No date has yet been set for calling the grand jury.

May Orders Gambling Cleanup
AKRON, Sept. 1.—The heat was on Akron gamblers today by order of Mayor Charles E. Slusser.

The mayor yesterday informed Police Chief Thomas F. Lynett that "every form of gambling must go."

The mayor's directive followed the conducting of his own investigation into recent charges of Akron gambling.

Previously Mayor Slusser had declared the city was "clean" of gambling interests and that all gambling was "shut up tight."

Pickaway's Blood Bank Quota Set Up At 800 Pints Per Year

Pickaway County's blood bank quota will be 800 pints a year, D. M. Jones, American Red Cross field representative, told a meeting of blood program organizers Tuesday night.

Attending the conference were the ARC board of directors headed by A.W. Bosworth; the blood committee, Karl Johnson, chairman; and the medical advisory committee, Dr. H. D. Jackson, chairman.

Jones explained the urgent need for establishing a blood bank was that the present ARC supply is expected to be exhausted in January.

He said for each general hospital bed in the country five pints of blood will be needed each year in addition to one pint neuropsychiatric hospitals.

Beside these demands for blood, the Veterans Administration and military needs combined are estimated at 600,000 pints per year, Jones declared.

IN ALL, approximately 3,700,000 pints of blood are needed each year throughout the country. It is the plan to make blood available free to anyone who needs it.

It was emphasized, however, that although the blood is without cost, hospitals and doctors are free to make their charges in administering the blood to the patient.

The blood bank program was set up to meet the needs of people in supplying whole blood, blood plasma and blood fractions, Jones disclosed. This requires about 1 person of every 35 in the county to donate one pint per year.

Jones explained that 72 hours after the first blood is taken from the county, a supply will be returned here for immediate use. This does not mean, however, that it will be the same blood.

Once the blood reaches the Regional Blood Center in Columbus it is processed according to type, RH factor and a check for possible disease.

Ages for donors was set at 21 to 59 inclusive or 18 to 21 with written permission. The local committee hopes to recruit 140 donors for each trip here of the Bloodmobile. It will make eight trips here a year.

Each donor will be given a certificate with the entire history of his blood including type, count and factor which can be used in any emergency.

IT IS the aim of the ARC in this program—"To furnish blood needs of the community where there is no commercial blood bank or where that bank is not meeting the needs of doctors and hospitals," Jones said.

Opening of the Regional Blood Center in Columbus is expected the latter part of October or November. The Bloodmobile will make its first trip to Pickaway County soon thereafter, officials disclosed.

Some 34 counties within a 70 mile radius of Columbus are expected to cooperate with the blood center to set up a bank sufficient to meet the needs of any emergency.

The Bloodmobile will be staffed with one doctor and six registered nurses.

State Entering Days For Polio

COLUMBUS, Sept. 1.—State Health Director John D. Porterfield refused to become perturbed over the polio situation today as eight more cases were reported bringing the Ohio 1948 total to 510.

Porterfield said "this is the time of year to expect it" and pointed out that last year the total jumped from 191 to 628 in the first two weeks of September.

government in Washington and that this was all part of his chief function, his underground activities.

The professor said that he met with the Russian secret police over a period of three years in New York restaurants and Chicago hotels.

He testified that Jack Stachel, national secretary of the Communist Party, now under indictment as a member of the conspiracy to overthrow the U. S., introduced him to Peters in The Daily Worker building.

He said that Peters was one of the high Communist functionaries, ranking with such men as Gerhardt Eisler and Fred Brown, alias Merini, who directed Communist infiltration into the armed forces during the war.

Air Race Speed Trials Underway

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Qualifying speed trials for the national air races, to be held in Cleveland next weekend, continued today at Municipal Airport.

In yesterday's flights, Robert I. Eucker, Cleveland's only entry in the Thompson Trophy Race, robbed timers of a chance to record even one successful qualifier when an escape hatch in his F-63 Kingcobra opened, forcing him to land.

"I was reaching for the water injection switch with my right hand when my sleeve, which was rolled up to the elbow, caught in the handle which jettisons the door in an emergency so the pilot can get free to jump," Eucker explained after he landed.

Gusty wind, which blew as fast as 30 miles an hour, kept all planes off the speed course until late in the afternoon. Mechanical mishaps of various sorts then kept the three pilots, including Eucker, from qualifying.

The industrial rayon prizes of $100 each for the 10 best qualifying times yesterday will be paid today. The $50 prizes, which were to be posted yesterday, will be paid tomorrow.

Driver License Aides Selected

Names of Pickaway County deputy registrars who will handle the sale of 1949 drivers' licenses beginning Sept. 7, were announced Wednesday by Edward T. Fogo, state registrar of vehicles.

They are Mrs. Ruth E. Wignell, 118 East Franklin street, Circleville; L. E. Foreman, 1 East Main street, Ashville; Anabelle Echard, New Holland; and Mrs. D. H. Marcy, Williamsport.

Fogo served an early reminder to state motorists when he declared the 1948 licenses expire at midnight on Sept. 30.

man, served as foreign minister. The bald, shrewd, Schuman, a leader of the Popular Republican Party—a Catholic moderate group—outlined a compromise economic program yesterday.

He kept many of the reforms of Ex-Finance Minister Paul Reynaud—whose policies the Socialists have fought tooth and nail—but promised to safeguard purchasing power, which the unions have demanded.

In outlining his program to the assembly yesterday, Schuman made these points:

France's most urgent task is wiping out government deficits. To this end, he advocated a $400 million tax program, half through direct and half through indirect taxation.

He also called for new loans to wipe out the national budget deficit.

He voiced opposition to wage increases, but said he favored government action to safeguard purchasing powers.

Communist Leaders Jacques Duclos and Maurice Thorez launched bitter attacks against Schuman just before the assembly voted favorably on him.

91 County Lads Sign For Draft

Registration of Pickaway County men born in 1923 totalled 91 Tuesday with signups for men in the same age bracket (24-year-olds continuing over Wednesday).

Miss Betty Miner, clerk of local draft board No. 98, said the board expected a heavier rush of registrations when the middle age groups of 20 through 23 are called.

An estimated 2,500 Pickaway County men fall into the eligible registration list and will sign up before Sept. 18.

Reds Mourn Death Of No. 2 Chief

Molotov, whose chances for succession to the No. 1 government spot was said now to be strengthened.

The London Daily Telegraph pointed out that prior to the Russian announcement of the death of Zhdanov, "no whisper had emerged from Russia or any other part of the world that Zhdanov was a sick man."

The newspaper continued: "While the probabilities are that Zhdanov died of an unspecified illness, the possibility that he was 'liquidated' as many others cannot entirely be disregarded."

Whether this is true, Zhdanov recently encountered considerable difficulties in his work which cannot have increased his reputation, high as it was within the Politburo.

"If Zhdanov died naturally, his last months were not free from anxiety. Death would appear to strengthen Molotov's chances of being the successor to Stalin."

Benes Condition Worse; Death Being Awaited

PRAGUE, Sept. 1—The condition of former Czechoslovak President Dr. Eduard Benes, 64, who has slipped into unconsciousness, worsened today.

Reports reaching Prague from Benes' country home at Sezimovo Usti said that the symptoms of paralysis of the arterial and motor nerves continue to develop.

The ailing patriot president, who refused to sign the constitution of the coup-created Communist government and resigned last June 7, has been in virtual seclusion since.

His last public appearance was a fearful one at the funeral of former Foreign Minister Jan G. Masaryk, whose death was reported by the Communists as due to suicide following the Red seizure of power in February.

Benes, as a young man, was associated with the elder Thomas Masaryk in the creation of the Czech republic. Since that time his name has been synonymous with Czech democracy.

When Czechoslovakia fell under Communist domination, Benes—who had hoped that his nation might serve as a bridge of friendship between East and West—suffered in health and spirit.

Earlier bulletins said that he suffered from arteriosclerosis and termed his condition "extremely serious." It added that he lost consciousness yesterday morning and was so weakened that it "reduces any hope he will recover."

Firemen Douse 2 Minor Blazes

Circleville firemen were called to quench two blazes Tuesday afternoon, one in the Ralston-Purina plant and the other in the middle of the street near the intersections of Mingo and East Mound streets.

The Ralston-Purina plant call was made at 2:30 p. m. when a conveyor belt on a grain elevator "choked up." Damage was confined to the belt.

Other Tuesday fire was at 4:45 p. m. when firemen put out a blaze in a street barricade on East Mound street. Fire Chief Talmer Wise said the fire was started by youngsters, who tipped over a street flare.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—Secretary of State Marshall said today that plans are being studied for the gradual withdrawal of United States forces from Korea.

Pickaway's Blood Bank Quota Set Up At 800 Pints Per Year

Pickaway County's blood bank quota will be 800 pints a year. D. M. Jones, American Red Cross field representative, told a meeting of blood program organizers Tuesday night.

Attending the conference were the ARC board of directors headed by A.W. Bosworth; the blood committee, Karl Johnson, chairman; and the medical advisory committee, Dr. H. D. Jackson, chairman.

Jones explained the urgent need for establishing a blood bank was that the present ARC supply is expected to be exhausted in January.

He said for each general hospital bed in the country five pints of blood will be needed each year in addition to one pint neuropsychiatric hospitals.

Beside these demands for blood, the Veterans Administration and military needs combined are estimated at 600,000 pints per year, Jones declared.

IN ALL, approximately 3,700,000 pints of blood are needed each year throughout the country. It is the plan to make blood available free to anyone who needs it.

It was emphasized, however, that although the blood is without cost, hospitals and doctors are free to make their charges in administering the blood to the patient.

The blood bank program was set up to meet the needs of people in supplying whole blood, blood plasma and blood fractions, Jones disclosed. This requires a country to donate one pint per year.

Jones explained that 72 hours after the first blood is taken from the county, a supply will be returned here for immediate use. This does not mean, however, that it will be the same blood.

Once the blood reaches the Regional Blood Center in Columbus it is processed according to type, RH factor and a check for possible disease.

Ages for donors was set at 21 to 59 inclusive or 18 to 21 with written permission. The local committee hopes to recruit 140 donors for each trip here of the Bloodmobile. It will make eight trips here a year.

Each donor will be given a certificate with the entire history of his blood including type, count and factor which can be used in any emergency.

IT IS the aim of the ARC in this program—"To furnish blood needs of the community where there is no commercial blood bank or where that bank is not meeting the needs of doctors and hospitals," Jones said.

Opening of the Regional Blood Center in Columbus is expected the latter part of October or November. The Bloodmobile will make its first trip to Pickaway County soon thereafter, officials disclosed.

Some 34 counties within a 70 mile radius of Columbus are expected to cooperate with the blood center to set up a bank sufficient to meet the needs of any emergency.

The Bloodmobile will be staffed with one doctor and six registered nurses.

State Entering Days For Polio

COLUMBUS, Sept. 1—State Health Director John D. Porterfield refused to become perturbed over the polio situation today as eight more cases were reported bringing the Ohio 1948 total to 510.

Porterfield said "this is the time of year to expect it" and pointed out that last year the total jumped from 191 to 628 in the first two weeks of September.

Localite's Horse Is Reserve Champ

Reserve Ohio-owned championship for five-gaited harness horses at Ohio State Fair went Tuesday night to Maria Lana, owned by Mrs. Paul Adkins of Circleville.

The local horse was edged in the final judging by Cameo Genius, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gorsuch of Zanesville.

government in Washington and that this was all part of his chief function, his underground activities.

The professor said that he met with the Russian secret police over a period of three years in New York restaurants and Chicago hotels.

He testified that Jack Stachel, national secretary of the Communist Party, now under indictment as a member of the conspiracy to overthrow the U. S., introduced him to Peters in The Daily Worker building.

He said that Peters was one of the high Communist functionaries, ranking with such men as Gerhardt Eisler and Fred Brown, alias Marini, who directed Communist infiltration into the armed forces during the war.

Air Race Speed Trials Underway

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1—Qualifying speed trials for the national air races, to be held in Cleveland next weekend, continued today at Municipal Airport.

In yesterday's flights, Robert I. Eucker, Cleveland's only entry in the Thompson Trophy Race, robbed timers of a chance to record even one successful qualifier when an escape hatch in his P-63 Kingcobra opened, forcing him to land.

"I was reaching for the water injection switch with my right hand when my sleeve, which was rolled up to the elbow, caught in the handle which jettisons the door in an emergency so the pilot can get free to jump," Eucker explained after he landed.

Gusty wind, which blew as fast as 30 miles an hour, kept all planes off the speed course until late in the afternoon. Mechanical mishaps of various sorts then kept the three pilots, including Eucker, from qualifying.

The industrial rayon prizes of $100 each for the 10 best qualifying times yesterday will be paid today. The $50 prizes, which were to be posted yesterday, will be paid tomorrow.

Driver License Aides Selected

Names of Pickaway County deputy registrars who will handle the sale of 1949 drivers' licenses beginning Sept. 7, were announced Wednesday by Edward T. Fogo, state registrar of vehicles.

They are Mrs. Ruth E. Wignel, 118 East Franklin street, Circleville; L. E. Foreman, 1 East Main street, Ashville; Anabelle Echard, New Holland; and Mrs. D. H. Marcy, Williamsport.

Fogo served an early reminder to state motorists when he declared the 1948 licenses expire at midnight on Sept. 30.

McClain Named Red Cross Chief

Dan McClain, formerly of Circleville and still manager of the local office of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., has been named chairman of the Ross County chapter of the American Red Cross.

McClain, now a resident of Chillicothe, succeeds F. L. Zellers who had been chairman three years.

man, served as foreign minister. The bald, shrewd, Schuman, a leader of the Popular Republican Party—a Catholic moderate group—outlined a compromise economic program yesterday.

He kept many of the reforms of Ex-Finance Minister Paul Reynaud—whose policies the Socialists have fought tooth and nail—but promised to safeguard purchasing power, which the unions have demanded.

In outlining his program to the assembly yesterday, Schuman made these points.

France's most urgent task is wiping out government deficits. To this end, he advocated a $400 million tax program, half through direct and half through indirect taxation.

He also called for new loans to wipe out the national budget deficit.

He voiced opposition to wage increases, but said he favored government action to safeguard purchasing powers.

Communist Leaders Jacques Duclos and Maurice Thorez launched bitter attacks against Schuman just before the assembly voted favorably on him.

91 County Lads Sign For Draft

Registration of Pickaway County men born in 1923 totalled 91 Tuesday with signs for men in the same age bracket (24-year-olds continuing over Wednesday).

Miss Betty Miner, clerk of local draft board No. 98, said the board expected a heavier rush of registrations when the middle age groups of 20 through 23 are called.

An estimated 2,500 Pickaway County men fall into the eligible registration list and will sign up before Sept. 18.

Ashville Sets Registration For Monday

School Rooms Are Revamped

A half-day session for registration and completing class schedules for the coming year will mark the official opening of Ashville schools next Tuesday.

A portion of the Ashville school has been renovated this year to take care of the increased number of first graders to the system.

The former high school sewing room has been partitioned into two sections to house two classes of first graders this year and the high school study hall has been partitioned to hold a study hall and the sewing class.

Two new electric stoves and two new electric refrigerators have been introduced into the home economics and hot lunch kitchen, and the lower hall of the building, library and superintendent's office have been painted during the Summer.

AT PRESENT the teaching staff at the school includes the following teachers, along with the grades or subjects taught by each:

Mrs. Claude Kraft and Mrs. Paul Cromley, first grade; Mrs. Walter Harris, second grade; Mrs. Frank Hudson, third grade; Mrs. Edwin Irwin, fourth grade; Mrs. Harry Sark, fifth grade; Lawrence W. Fullen, sixth grade; Mrs. Harold Bowser, seventh grade; Edwin W. Irwin, eighth grade and elementary school principal; Mrs. Melvin Kigen, vocal music; Miss Geraldine Conard, physical education and home economics; Charles W. Shell, instrumental music; Mrs. A. E. Albertson, English; A. E. Black, Latin and mathematics; Walter Eberle, history, physical education, and coaching; C. E. Mahaffey, science, industrial arts, and high school principal; and W. L. Harris, science, commercial, and superintendent.

The teachers are to meet at 1 p. m. Monday to complete plans and preparations for the ensuing school year.

The cafeteria will open Wednesday, the first full day of school in the 1948-49 year.

"EMERGENCY does not create power, but emergency may create occasion for the exercise of powers which exist." So wrote Charles Evans Hughes in probably the most notable, certainly the most noted, ruling of the Supreme Court during the period when he was chief justice. It was the decision in January, 1934, upholding the Minnesota mortgage moratorium law, a green light for the New Deal emergency program.

This staunch Republican wrote 18 majority opinions sustaining the controversial New Deal legislative program during its trying early years, and in addition is credited with swaying Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts to the liberal side, a significant factor in some of the close decisions. Yet strangely he was one of the targets of the late President Roosevelt's attack on "the Nine Old Men" in the middle days of his administration. Stranger still, he was considered too conservative by strong elements in the Senate in 1930, and they made a bitter effort to prevent confirmation of his nomination by President Hoover.

He was an eminent, austere and always honorable figure through one of the most turbulent periods of United States history. It seems inevitable that in the perspective of years to come the significance of his life will grow.

LATER LABOR DAY

THIS year Labor Day comes almost as late in September as it ever does. Nearly a whole week of September has been added to the scant stock of vacation days when children do not have to be in school, and persons lucky enough to be able to stretch their vacations can do so with a clear conscience. Many of them will say, "Why couldn't Labor Day come at the end of the month instead of at the beginning?"

Why not indeed? Owners of Summer hotels and tourist homes will echo the question. So will teachers. So will children and their parents. So will a lot of unorganized people. Labor Day is a state-made holiday. Each state could set the day when it wished, just as some states did with Thanksgiving a few years ago.

More logical than changing the date of the holiday, however, might be altering the custom of ending the vacation season arbitrarily with Labor Day, regardless of the date, the state of the weather, or the family's readiness to return to routine.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

One is always meeting a man who says: "I should have resigned 'way back in 1944 or 1945 and made a declaration to the American people—telling all."

Well, they did not do it.

They kept on pulling the wool over the eyes of the American people because they assumed that that was for the good of the American people in time of war. Now some of them write books and magazine articles and they bring out a modicum of sensational truth; yet when columnists and commentators and even such men as Charles Lindbergh and Gen. Robert E. Wood did tell the truth, they were defamed as Fascists by many who are today being shown up as having at least had a divided loyalty.

Just as it is necessary to make a full study of the Nye committee and its nefarious campaign to disarm America, so is it essential to make a full study of the "One World" propaganda which first employed Wendell Willkie and is now using Henry Wallace as its mouthpiece. Who and what was the inspiration for making love of America a shameful affection? Who and what stimulated this disease of making this country a mere province in a world that lives upon it?

Let us go back to Wendell Willkie as we need to go back to Dr. William A. Wirt and to Gerald P. Nye to understand what happened.

Willkie appears in New York as a public utilities lawyer with a charming personality. The Republicans had in 1932 and 1936 taken a bad beating at the hands of Franklin D. Roosevelt and elements in their party, particularly the businessmen, were looking for a candidate who had no liabilities because he had done nothing in public life. They hit upon Willkie, whose main support came from what Henry Wallace calls Wall Street. At the Republican convention at Philadelphia in 1940, Willkie was nominated and he set off on a terrific campaign—which lost votes as it proceeded.

Willkie was defeated. He had no political past. He was not a Republican leader. He had no job to go back to. It was assumed that he was through. However, with astounding suddenness, Willkie developed a new role. He became the forefront of "One World." He traveled the world in an airplane, landing here and there to dine with some ruler or to speak his piece. Accompanying him was Joseph Barnes, then with The New York Herald Tribune, now editor of The New York Star, formerly PM.

After this trip, Willkie's book, "One World," appeared, which was promoted with an energy rarely provided even important literature. Also, Freedom House was organized, which became the center of a vast internationalist propaganda. At about that time, a large number of propaganda organizations were organized which were joined together by interlocking directorates and by a sort of holding company in Freedom House. Apparently all these organizations existed to stimulate hatred for Hitler, but none of them conducted any form of activity which in any way stirred a deep love for America. It was (Continued on Page Eight)

DIET AND HEALTH

A Useful Chemical Test That Aids the Doctor's Diagnosis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BOTH patient and doctor are fortunate today in having at their disposal a great variety of laboratory tests. When properly used, such tests not only make a diagnosis more sure but also more rapid, and thus enable the doctor to get treatment under way almost at once.

Some of these tests are extremely useful when it comes to making a diagnosis of stomach and bowel disturbances, and none of these tests is more necessary than that designed to detect the presence of blood in the bowel movements. It should never be neglected because it helps particularly in discovering serious disorders which demand immediate attention.

Structure in Abdomen

There is a structure in the abdomen known as Meckel's diverticulum which functions only before birth as what is known as the vitelline duct. However, it remains connected with the bowel and sometimes becomes diseased. Such a disturbance causes no symptoms other than blood in the stool, and neither physical examination nor X-ray will reveal its presence.

Another cause of blood in the stool is an ulcer in the first part of the small intestines. This is also difficult to diagnose even with X-ray examination, but a small amount of blood in the stool should make the doctor suspect its presence.

In cancer of the large or small bowel, blood is usually present in the stools. In fact it was found in 102 out of 110 cases studied. Cancer of the stomach may also cause blood to appear in the stools in most instances.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. C.: What causes dryness of the throat and is there a cure for it?

Answer: There are many causes for so-called dryness of the throat. This condition may indicate infection of the nose, throat or tonsils; or it may be due to some lack of secretion from the salivary glands. A thorough study should be made to determine the cause, so that the proper treatment may be advised.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

"YOU ARE getting married, when?" Poirot asked Lynn and Rowley.

"June."

"And you have been engaged since when?"

"Nearly six years," said Rowley. "Lynn's just come out of the Wrens."

"And it is forbidden to marry in the Wrens, yes?"

Lynn said briefly: "I've been overseas."

Poirot noticed Rowley's swift frown. He said shortly: "Come on, Lynn. We must get going. I expect M. Poirot wants to get back to town."

Poirot said smilingly: "But I am not going back to town."

"What?"

Rowley stopped dead, giving a queer wooden effect.

"I am staying here, at the Stag, for a short while."

"But—why?"

"C'est un beau paysage," Poirot said placidly.

Rowley said uncertainly: "Yes, of course. . . . But aren't you—well, I mean, busy?"

"I have made my economies," said Poirot, smiling. "I do not need to occupy myself unduly. No. I can enjoy my leisure, and spend my time where the fancy takes me. And my fancy inclines to Warmley Vale."

He saw Lynn Marchmont raise her head and gaze at him intently. Rowley, he thought, was slightly annoyed.

"I suppose you play golf?" he said. "There's a much better hotel at Warmley Heath. This is a very one horse sort of place."

"My interests," said Poirot, "lie entirely in Warmley Vale."

Lynn said: "Come along, Rowley."

Half reluctantly, Rowley followed her. At the door, Lynn paused and then came swiftly back. She spoke to Poirot in a quiet low voice.

"They arrested David Hunter after the Inquest. Do you—do you think they were right?"

"They had no alternative, Mademoiselle, after the verdict."

"I mean—do you think he did it?"

"Do you?" said Poirot.

But Rowley was back at her side. Her face hardened to a poker smoothness. She said: "Goodbye, M. Poirot. I—I hope we meet again."

"Now I wonder," said Poirot to himself.

Presently, after arranging with Beatrice Lippincott about a room, he went out again. His steps led him to Dr. Lionel Cloade's house.

"Oh!" said Aunt Kathie who opened the door, taking a step or two backwards. "M. Poirot!"

"At your service, Madama," Poirot bowed. "I came to pay my respects."

"Well that's very nice of you, I'm sure. Yes—well—I suppose you'd better come in. Sit down—"

YOUR FUTURE
This time is not too good for tackling important matters where practicality is essential, so relax and do routine work. Your secret hopes and ambitions should now be realized and happiness will be yours. The romantic, domestic or studious activities are more important than business in the 12 months ahead of you.

I'll move Madame Blavatsky—and perhaps a cup of tea—only the cake is terribly stale. I meant to go to Peacocks for some, they do have Swiss Roll sometimes on a Wednesday—but an Inquest puts one's household routine out, don't you think so?"

Poirot said that he thought that was entirely understandable.

He had fancied that Rowley Cloade was annoyed by the announcement of his stay in Warmley Vale. Aunt Kathie's manner, without any doubt, was far from welcoming. She was looking at him with something not far from dismay. She said, leaning forward and speaking in a hoarse conspiratorial whisper:

"You won't tell my husband, will you, that I came and consulted you about—well, about we know what?"

"My lips are sealed."

"I mean—of course I'd no idea at the time—that Robert Underhay, poor man, so tragic—was actually in Warmley Vale. That seems to me still a most extraordinary coincidence!"

"It would have been simpler," agreed Poirot, "if the Ouija board had directed you straight to the Stag."

Aunt Kathie cheered up a little at the mention of the Ouija board. "The way things come about in the human world seem quite incalculable," she said. "But I do feel, M. Poirot, that there is a purpose in it all? Don't you feel that in life? That there is always a purpose?"

"Yes, indeed, Madama. Even that I should sit here, now, in your drawing room, there is a purpose in that."

"Oh is there?" Mrs. Cloade looked rather taken aback. "Is there, really? Yes, I suppose so. . . . You're on your way back to London, of course?"

"Not at present. I stay for a few days at the Stag."

"At the Stag? Oh—at the Stag! But that's where—Oh, M. Poirot, do you think you are wise?"

"I have been guided to the Stag," said Poirot, smiling.

"Guided? What do you mean?"

"Guided by you."

"Oh but I never meant—I mean, I had no idea. It's all so dreadful, don't you think so?"

Poirot shook his head sadly, and said: "I have been talking to Mr. Rowley Cloade and Miss Marchmont. They are getting married, I hear, quite soon?"

Aunt Kathie was immediately diverted.

"Dear Lynn, she is such a sweet girl—and so very good at figures. Now, I have no head for figures—no head at all. Having Lynn home is an absolute blessing. If I get in a terrible muddle she always straightens things out for me."

Dear girl, I do hope she will be happy. Rowley, of course, is a splendid person, but possibly, well, a little dull. I mean dull to a girl who has seen as much of the world as Lynn has. Rowley, you see, has been here on his farm all through the war—Oh, quite rightly, of course—I mean the Government wanted him to—that side of it is quite all right—not white feathers or things like that as they did in the Boer War—but what I mean is, it's made him rather limited in his ideas."

"Six years' engagement is a good test of affection."

"Oh, it is! But I think these girls, when they come home, they get rather restless—and if there is someone else about—someone, perhaps, who has led an adventurous life—"

"Such as David Hunter?"

"There isn't anything between them." Aunt Kathie said anxiously. "Nothing at all. I'm quite sure of that! It would have been dreadful if there had been, wouldn't there, with his turning out a murderer? His own brother-in-law, too! Oh no, M. Poirot, please don't run away with the idea that there's any kind of an understanding between Lynn and David. Really, they seemed to quarrel more than anything else every time they met. What I feel is that—oh dear, I think that's my husband coming. You will remember, won't you, M. Poirot, not a word about our first meeting? My poor dear husband gets so annoyed if he thinks that—Oh Lionel, dear, here is M. Poirot who so cleverly brought that Major Porter down to see the body."

Dr. Cloade looked tired and haggard. His eyes, pale blue, with pin-point pupils, wandered vaguely round the room.

"How do you do, M. Poirot, on your way back to town?"

"Bon Dieu, another who packs me back to London!" thought Poirot.

Aloud he said patiently: "No, I remain at the Stag for a day or so."

"The Stag?" Lionel Cloade frowned. "Oh? Police want to keep you here for a bit?"

"No. It is my own choice."

"Indeed?" The doctor suddenly flashed a quick intelligent look. "So you're not satisfied?"

"Why should you think that, Dr. Cloade?"

"Come, man, it's true, isn't it? Twitting about tea, Mrs. Cloade left the room. The doctor went on: "You've a feeling, haven't you, that something's wrong?"

Poirot was startled.

"It is odd that you should say that. Do you, then, feel that yourself?"

Cloade hesitated.

"N-no. Hardly that. . . . perhaps it's just a feeling of unreality. In books the blackmailer gets sluggish. Does he in real life? Apparently the answer is Yes. But it seems unnatural."

"Was there anything unsatisfactory about the medical aspect of the case? I ask unofficially, of course?"

Dr. Cloade said thoughtfully: "No, I don't think so."

"Yes—there is something. I can see there is something—"

NEW YORK—Renewing an acquaintanceship with Miss Janis Carter of the movies, over a luncheon omelet in the Swiss Grill of the Gotham, was a high spot in the life and times of your correspondent. Like me, Miss Carter is what might be classified as a professional New Yorker; that is, while the real natives of the big city are cursing the town from the Bronx to the Battery and vowing to move to the suburbs as soon as they can, we beam happily at the dirt and noise and say, isn't it wonderful.

The reason for this is obvious: neither of us was born here, Miss Carter being an Ohioan and your correspondent being an abortive product of the New Jersey meadows. Both of us steadfastly refuse to notice anything about the city but its dramatic and colorful aspects, which makes us somewhat trying as conversationalists, but together we are a wonderful thing.

Since last seen by me, however—that was two years ago and Janis really was just beginning to approach stardom warily—she has broadened her outlook a trifle and now she can become as enthusiastic about Rome as New York. She has been to Rome twice within the last year to make movies and she thinks it is the most beautiful, the most wonderful, the greatest—well, you know the routine. Like the stuff I spill out to you about New York.

I tried to pin her down to what it is about Rome that makes it so wonderful and she just waved her hands. Zasu Pitts style, and found herself unable to be very specific. Anyway, she now has two community loves, Rome and New York, which, naturally, makes it logical that she live in Hollywood.

Janis is married to Carl Prager, a radio contractor, and Oom Carl, being one of those realistic New Yorkers who lived here for a long while, wants no further part of the big town.

"CARL AND I WILL COME OUT OF A THEATER at night," Janis said, "and walk no more than a block or so, when Carl will see a drunk lying in the street and snort angrily and say 'See? That's what New York means to me. It's the most sordid town in the world.'"

Janis said that, for example, the English actress Celia Johnson has the most expressive eyes she ever saw and that she could pick them out in a thousand. Some day I will prove her folly to her, but we may as well let the matter rest.

When I lunched with Miss Carter, she wore a black number with one of those Dior-style necklines and her usually blond hair had reverted to type, which is blond.

"EMERGENCY does not create power, but emergency may create occasion for the exercise of powers which exist." So wrote Charles Evans Hughes in probably the most notable, certainly the most noted, ruling of the Supreme Court during the period when he was chief justice. It was the decision in January, 1934, upholding the Minnesota mortgage moratorium law, a green light for the New Deal emergency program.

This staunch Republican wrote 18 majority opinions sustaining the controversial New Deal legislative program during its trying early years, and in addition is credited with swaying Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts to the liberal side, a significant factor in some of the close decisions. Yet strangely he was one of the targets of the late President Roosevelt's attack on "the Nine Old Men" in the middle days of his administration. Stranger still, he was considered too conservative by strong elements in the Senate in 1930, and they made a bitter effort to prevent confirmation of his nomination by President Hoover.

He was an eminent, austere and always honorable figure through one of the most turbulent periods of United States history. It seems inevitable that in the perspective of years to come the significance of his life will grow.

LATER LABOR DAY

THIS year Labor Day comes almost as late in September as it ever does. Nearly a whole week of September has been added to the scant stock of vacation days when children do not have to be in school, and persons lucky enough to be able to stretch their vacations can do so with a clear conscience. Many of them will say, "Why couldn't Labor Day come at the end of the month instead of at the beginning?"

Why not indeed? Owners of Summer hotels and tourist homes will echo the question. So will teachers. So will children and their parents. So will a lot of unorganized people. Labor Day is a state-made holiday. Each state could set the day when it wished, just as some states did with Thanksgiving a few years ago.

More logical than changing the date of the holiday, however, might be altering the custom of ending the vacation season arbitrarily with Labor Day, regardless of the date, the state of the weather, or the family's readiness to return to routine.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

One is always meeting a man who says: "I should have resigned 'way back in 1944 or 1945 and made a declaration to the American people—telling all."

Well, they did not do it.

They kept on pulling the wool over the eyes of the American people because they assumed that that was for the good of the American people in time of war. Now some of them write books and magazine articles and they bring out a modicum of sensational truth; yet when columnists and commentators and even such men as Charles Lindbergh and Gen. Robert E. Wood did tell the truth, they were defamed as Fascists by many who are today being shown up as having at least had a divided loyalty.

Just as it is necessary to make a full study of the Nye committee and its nefarious campaign to disarm America, so is it essential to make a full study of the "One World" propaganda which first employed Wendell Willkie and is now using Henry Wallace as its mouthpiece. Who and what was the inspiration for making love of America a shameful affection? Who and what stimulated this disease of making this country a mere province in a world that lives upon it?

Let us go back to Wendell Willkie as we need to go back to Dr. William A. Wirt and to Gerald P. Nye to understand what happened.

Willkie appears in New York as a public utilities lawyer with a charming personality. The Republicans had in 1932 and 1936 taken a bad beating at the hands of Franklin D. Roosevelt and elements in their party, particularly the businessmen, were looking for a candidate who had no liabilities because he had done nothing in public life. They hit upon Willkie, whose main support came from what Henry Wallace calls Wall Street. At the Republican convention at Philadelphia in 1940, Willkie was nominated and he set off on a terrific campaign—which lost votes as it proceeded.

Willkie was defeated. He had no political past. He was not a Republican leader. He had no job to go back to. It was assumed that he was through. However, with astounding suddenness, Willkie developed a new role. He became the forefront of "One World." He traveled the world in an airplane, landing here and there to dine with some ruler or to speak his piece. Accompanying him was Joseph Barnes, now with The New York Herald Tribune, now editor of The New York Star, formerly PM.

After this trip, Willkie's book, "One World," appeared, which was promoted with an energy rarely provided even important literature. Also, Freedom House was organized, which became the center of a vast internationalist propaganda. At about that time, a large number of propaganda organizations were organized which were joined together by interlocking directorates and by a sort of holding company in Freedom House. Apparently all these organizations existed to stimulate hatred for Hitler, but none of them conducted any form of activity which in any way stirred a deep love for America. It was a

A Useful Chemical Test That Aids the Doctor's Diagnosis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BOTH patient and doctor are fortunate today in having at their disposal a great variety of laboratory tests. When properly used, such tests not only make a diagnosis more sure but also more rapid, and thus enable the doctor to get treatment under way almost at once.

Some of these tests are extremely useful when it comes to making a diagnosis of stomach and bowel disturbances, and none of these tests is more necessary than that designed to detect the presence of blood in the bowel movements. It should never be neglected because it helps particularly in discovering serious disorders which demand immediate attention.

Structure in Abdomen

There is a structure in the abdomen known as Meckel's diverticulum which functions only before birth as what is known as the vitelline duct. However, it remains connected with the bowel and sometimes becomes diseased. Such a disturbance causes no symptoms other than blood in the stool, and neither physical examination nor X-ray will reveal its presence.

Another cause of blood in the stool is an ulcer in the first part of the small intestine. This is also difficult to diagnose even with X-ray examination, but a small amount of blood in the stool should make the doctor suspect its presence.

In cancer of the large or small bowel, blood is usually present in the stools. In fact it was found in 102 out of 110 cases studied.

Cancer of the stomach may also cause blood to appear in the stools in most instances.

The test for blood in the bowel movements is a chemical test which is easily carried out in but a few minutes' time. Tablets have been made up carrying the reagents necessary for making the test. These tablets can be carried around in the doctor's bag and the test made in the patient's home, the doctor's office or in the laboratory.

When blood is found in the stools, a rectal examination should be made. Such an examination may reveal abnormal conditions not discoverable in other ways. It has been pointed out that in nearly half of the cases of cancer of the large bowel and rectum, a diagnosis can be made by means of such a rectal examination. Furthermore, a rectal examination makes it possible to determine the size, shape and state of tenderness of the prostate gland in the male.

Persons who have disorders affecting the stomach and bowel should have a thorough study carried out by the physician and, of course, as a part of this examination a test should be made for the presence of blood in the bowel movements.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. C.: What causes dryness of the throat and is there a cure for it?

Answer: There are many causes for so-called dryness of the throat. This condition may indicate infection of the nose, throat or tonsils; or it may be due to some lack of secretion from the salivary glands. A thorough study should be made to determine the cause, so that the proper treatment may be advised.

She was looking at him with something not far from dismay. She said, leaning forward and speaking in a hoarse conspiratorial whisper: "You won't tell my husband, will you, that I came and consulted you about—well, about we know what?"

"My lips are sealed."

"I mean—of course I'd no idea at the time—that Robert Underhay, poor man, so tragic—was actually in Warmley Vale. That seems to me still a most extraordinary coincidence!"

"It would have been simpler," agreed Poirot, "if the Ouija board had directed you straight to the Stag."

Aunt Kathie cheered up a little at the mention of the Ouija board. "The way things come about in the spirit world seem quite incalculable," she said. "But I do feel, M. Poirot, that there is a purpose in it all? Don't you feel that in life? That there is always a purpose?"

"Yes, indeed, Madame. Even that I should sit here, now, in your drawing room, there is a purpose in that."

"Oh is there?" Mrs. Claude looked rather taken aback. "Is there, really? Yes, I suppose so. . . . You're on your way back to London, of course?"

"Not at present. I stay for a few days at the Stag."

"At the Stag? Oh—at the Stag! But that's where—Oh, M. Poirot, do you think you are wise?"

"I have been guided to the Stag," said Poirot solemnly.

"Guided? What do you mean?"

"Guided by you."

"Oh but I never meant—I mean, I had no idea. It's all so dreadful, don't you think so?"

Poirot shook his head sadly, and said: "I have been talking to Mr. Rowley Claude and Miss Marchmont. They are getting married. I hear, quite soon?"

Aunt Kathie was immediately diverted.

"Dear Lynn, she is such a sweet girl—and so very good at figures. Now, I have no head for figures—no head at all. Having Lynn home is an absolute blessing. If I get in a terrible muddle she always straightens things out for me. Dear girl, I do hope she will be happy. Rowley, of course, is a splendid person, but possibly, well, a little dull. I mean dull to a girl who has seen as much of the world as Lynn has. Rowley, you see, has

Reception Backfires
On Supposed Hosts Of Pontious EUB Charge

Butterbaughs
Were To Be Feted

Every detail was carefully planned for a reception to honor the Rev. and Mrs. Carl R. Butterbaugh Tuesday evening in the parsonage on East Franklin street.

The surprise party was arranged by members of Pontious Evangelical United Brethren church in celebration of the return of their pastor for another year to his Pickaway County Charge. The appointment was made at a recent conference meeting of EUB leaders in Columbus.

The social event which necessitated planning and arrangements terminated into a surprise to the supposed-to-be hosts. The pastor and his family were not at home, nor did they return during the evening.

The disheartened group quietly sat themselves upon the sidewalk curb to await the Butterbaughs' return but to no avail. Prayers and consolation were freely as to just why they all neglected to conduct a secret investigation before the surprise party to learn the whereabouts of their pastor.

At long last, the weary and melancholy group decided to hold an impromptu "arc-light" party. Refreshments were eaten in front of the parsonage on the sidewalk in quiet solitude minus any hilarity and without a fanfare.

The group departed about 11:30 p. m. with the honored guests still unavailable and unknown.

The Butterbaughs had been attending another church function.

Mr., Mrs. Bunn
Host Reunion

The Wilkins reunion took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bunn of the Orient community. The affair was arranged in honor of the surviving children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wilkins of Hocking County.

Forty-five persons were present from Circleville, Mechanicsburg, Oakland, Laurelville, Yellowlobd, Ashville, and Columbus.

Grangers Book
Supper, Dance

Members of the Scioto Valley Grange of Ashville and their friends are to meet at the Joseph Brown home, South of Shadsville, for a pot luck supper at 7 p. m. Friday.

The occasion is to dedicate a new sales room they recently built. Following the meal, there will be entertainment and dancing.

ALA Books Meet

The American Legion Auxiliary is planning to go Thursday to Chillicothe Veterans hospital. They are to meet at the auditorium at 1:30 p. m. Entertainment and treats will be provided by the local women for the patients in the hospital.

4-H Clubs Book
Square Dance

The square dance sponsored Aug. 11 by members of Saltcreek Township 4-H Clubs proved to be such a successful event the clubs are arranging another Saturday evening in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The event is being arranged to benefit the 4-H Club Foundation project by members of the Saltcreek Livestock Club, Victory Stitches and Junior and Senior Stitches and Chatter Clubs.

"Doc" Roll of Kingston will present the music and call the dances beginning at 8:30 p. m. and continuing until 11:30 p. m. The affair is open to the public with all proceeds to be handed over to the 4-H Foundation.

Church Group
Has Picnic

Congregation of Heidelberg Evangelical and Reformed Church of Stoutsville held its annual picnic at the Pearl Greeno Grove in Washington Township.

The congregation, under the leadership of the Rev. Fred Dolefeld, pastor, engaged in a period of worship. The Rev. H. E. Sheeley of Hanover, Pa., a former pastor, gave a message on "God's First Tabernacle, the Great Out-Doors." At the conclusion of the worship service, 65 members and guests gathered for a picnic dinner.

Local Exhibitors
Among Guests

In continuation of an annual custom, the Ohio State Fair board entertained exhibitors at a meal Wednesday morning they hosted a breakfast in a downtown Columbus hotel.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Adkins of Braeburn Farm, Pickaway Township; Al Leggett of Columbus, who is well known in Circleville; and Dr. and Mrs. O. O. Burt of Londonderry, who stable their horses at Pickaway Fairgrounds.

Group C To Hear
Mrs. Yates

Mrs. Melvin A. Yates, president of Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association, will address members of Group C, Women's Association of the Presbyterian church, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Franklin Crites will be hostess for the first meeting of the Fall season in her home, South Pickaway street at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Yates will relate the past history of the local TB association and the proposed mass x-ray unit scheduled for the week of the Circleville Pumpkin Show. The unit, from the Columbus office, will be located in the center of Circleville in order that persons may avail themselves with a free chest x-ray and patch tests. This service is made free to residents of Pickaway County by the sale of Christmas Seals. Mrs. Hildeburn Jones will be assisting hostess for the meeting.

84th Birthday
Marked By Party

Mrs. Clara Trone Hammers of Stoutsville entertained in celebration of the 84th birthday anniversary of her brother, John Trone of East Ringgold.

Dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Russel Trone, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dean and daughter, Janet, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey M. Trone of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trone of Reber Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. The wedding took place Aug. 28 in Catlettsburg, Ky., with the Rev. Arden P. Keyser officiating.

Morning Wedding
Performed By
Rev. Butterbaugh

The Rev. Carl L. Butterbaugh officiated in the Evangelical United Brethren Charge parsonage, East Franklin street Wednesday morning for a wedding.

Repeating nuptial vows at 8:20 a. m. were Marvene E. Arledge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arledge of near Kingston, and Howard Glenn Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hall of Circleville Route 1.

The bride was attired in a blue taffeta dress with grey accessories. She carried a white Bible topped by an orchid and white rosebuds. For "something old" she carried her grandmother's wedding ring and the bridegroom's great, great, great, great grandmother's strand of beads. They were arranged in a cluster of white ribbons. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone eckler and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Maxine Poling of Circleville Route 4, attended the bride in a floral printed chiffon dress and a corsage of pink roses.

The Rev. Charles Jenkins of Jackson served as best man.

Both the new Mr. and Mrs. Hall attended Pickaway Township school. The bridegroom served 22 months with the U. S. Navy and now is attending an engineering school.

The couple left immediately following the ceremony on a trip through the Southern states.

Mowerys Host
Annual Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. James Mowery lent the hospitality of the Pickaway County home in order that neighbors and friends of the Tarlton community might hold their third reunion.

Approximately 75 persons were present for a picnic dinner. They came from Circleville, Dayton, Athens, Tarlton, Farmersville, Columbus, Laurelville, Amanda and Ashville.

Mid-Summer
Wedding Told

A gown of white Chantilly lace and a fingertip veil of illusion was chosen by the former Miss Rita Jeanne Ryan when she became Mrs. Edwin L. Herbert Jr. on Aug. 10.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ryan of Marion and has frequently visited in Circleville. She is a niece of Mrs. John F. Carle, Miss Genevieve and Miss Ann English, Mrs. Margaret Stocklen.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Herbert of Columbus. They repeated nuptial vows in St. Mary's church in Marion with the Rev. Frederick Klueg, O. P. of Chicago officiating.

Miss Margaret Ann Ryan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

John F. Herbert served as best man. In the wedding party were two bridal attendants in addition to Miss Ryan, and four ushers.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Herbert are spending a honeymoon in Michigan.

LEGAL BRAINS STUMPED

Use Of Fifth Amendment Has Committee Guessing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 — Of the entire interim report issued during the past weekend by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, one particular point has attracted the most attention from legislators and practicing lawyers alike.

It is the question of what, if anything, will be done about the fifth amendment to the Constitution.

In summarizing its overall report, the committee contended that the spy probe hearings have shown the need for new legislation to safeguard the country against the "new and clever conspiratorial tactics developed by Communists to promote and conceal their espionage activities and their disloyal purposes."

More specifically, it recommended adoption of legislation which would enable the committee to "cope" with Communists who use the fifth amendment as a "cover-all" to avoid answering the committee's questions.

The amendment, of course, permits a witness in such cases to refuse to answer questions that he feels might incriminate or degrade him. Throughout the latter phases of the hearings, a parade of witnesses refused to reply to questions as to whether they were Communist Party members on those grounds.

EVENTUALLY, they went even farther, and some of them carried their "fifth amendment rights" to ludicrous lengths—one even refusing to say whether he had ever visited Washington, D. C., or Niagara Falls on grounds that to answer "might tend to incriminate or degrade me."

Behind the committee's recommendations for legislation to solve the fifth amendment situation lay a curiously evolved story.

In the early days of the committee's current investigation—prior to the big spy cases—the fifth amendment was not a problem.

As a matter of fact, some committee members tended to be rather pleased if the question-and-answer sessions reached a point where the witness on the stand felt it necessary to fall back on those rights and refused to reply.

The theory was that, by thus refusing to answer, the witness had—for all public purposes—answered the question. Their defense at the time hinged not on the fifth amendment but on a point of personal political affiliation privileges. They said, in effect that the committee's question violated the right of the secret ballot, and refused to answer on those grounds.

But courts ruled the grounds insufficient and cited them for contempt of Congress.

However, before the fight was finished, committee investigators would have been satisfied had the witnesses refused to answer on the grounds provided by the fifth amendment. At the time, they felt that such an answer would have been incriminating enough, in itself, to prove the point they were trying to make.

BUT THAT was before the Bentley-Chambers spy charges were heard.

Once the investigation turned to matters of wartime espionage, and possible sabotage, it was an entirely different story. Then, the refusal to answer questions on self-incrimination grounds really began to hamper the investigation.

Just what it will do—for that matter, what it can do—to meet what it terms "this new challenge to constitutional authority" remains to be seen. It has called in some of the best legal brains in the country but as yet no solution other than outright repeal of the fifth amendment has been even suggested.

Repeal would be something for the people—not the lawmakers—to decide.

All too few of us, who call ourselves Americans, know what it is that makes America different from other countries.

But...the bent and twisted old jeweler, who finally escaped the Gestapo in Austria, can tell you...

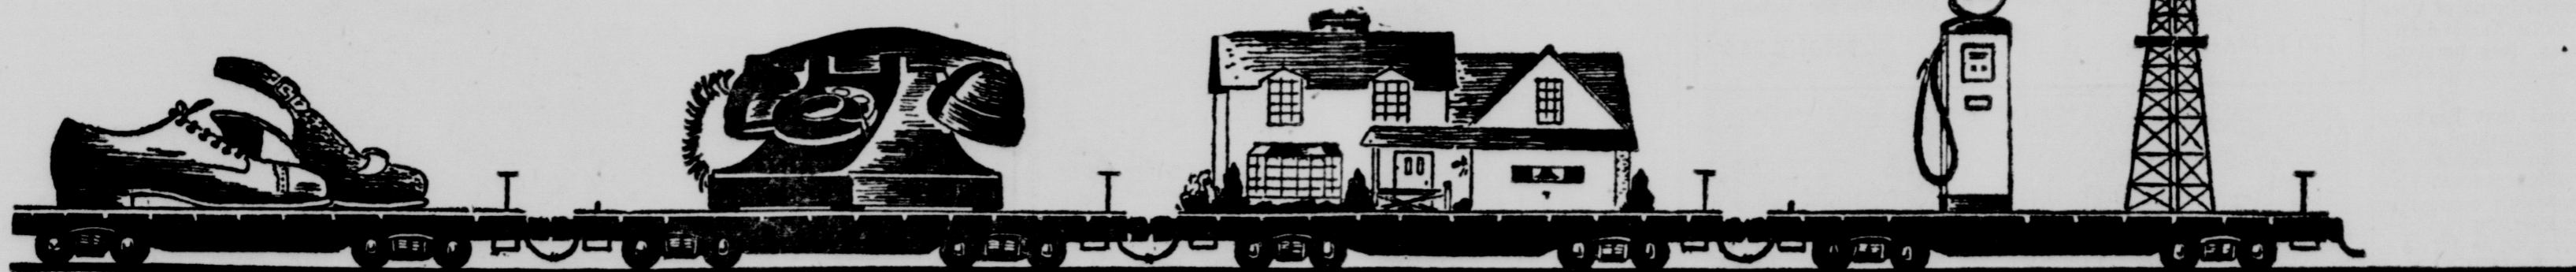

and the pathetic little refugee widow...hollow-eyed and shriveled...can tell you!

Yes, if you want to know, they'll tell you. They will reverently caress the word as they say it: "FREEDOM!"

Freedom to think...freedom to plan...freedom to act. Freedom to create...to produce...to sell. Freedom in the open market as well as in the schools and churches. Freedom to speak out for or against. Freedom to compete for men's minds...and their patronage, too.

We, who have lived with "freedom" so long, take it for granted...like the air we breathe. It is so easy to forget the things that should make us proud of being Americans. It is so easy to forget that we have so many of life's riches, because we are free people.

No other people are so fortunate...

...but for walking, we have the best shoes in all the world...

...and we can, on the average earn enough money in 7 1/4 hours to buy a pair of good shoes. But think of it...a Russian must work for more than 108 hours to buy a pair of shoes, worth much less!

A true measuring device of good living is the telephone. There is one telephone to every 12 people in Great Britain. But in Russia 125 people share one telephone.

All too few of us, who call ourselves Americans, know what it is that makes America different from other countries.

But... the bent and twisted old jeweler, who finally escaped the Gestapo in Austria, can tell you...

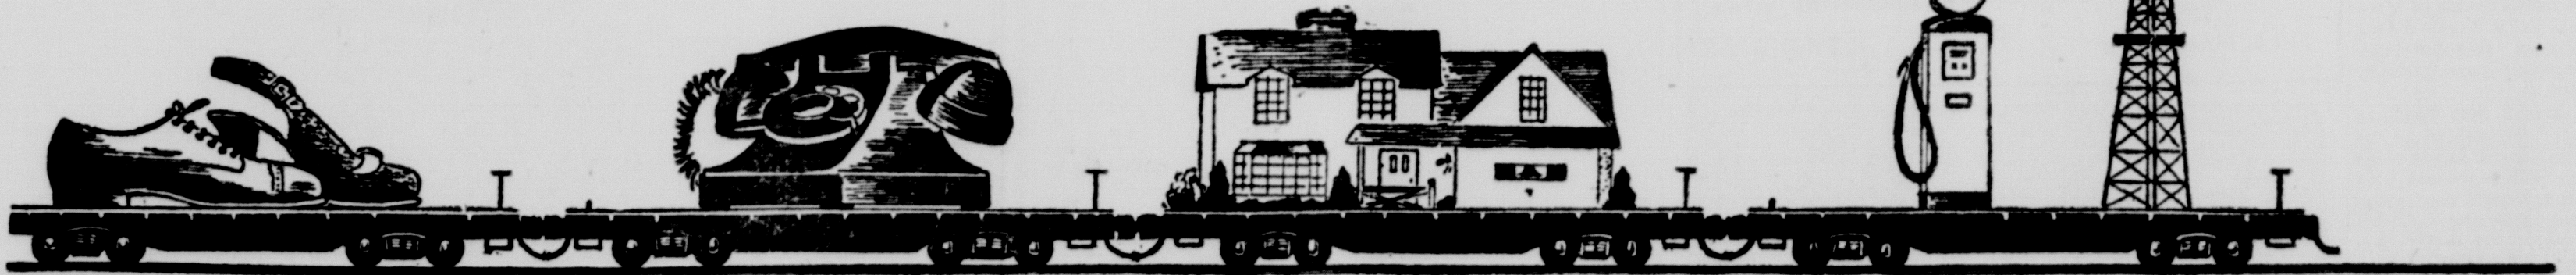

and the pathetic little refugee widow... hollow-eyed and shriveled... can tell you!

Yes, if you want to know, they'll tell you. They will reverently caress the word as they say it: "FREEDOM!"

Freedom to think... freedom to plan... freedom to act. Freedom to create... to produce... to sell. Freedom in the open market as well as in the schools and churches. Freedom to speak out for or against. Freedom to compete for men's minds... and their patronage, too.

We, who have lived with "freedom" so long, take it for granted... like the air we breathe. It is so easy to forget the things that should make us proud of being Americans. It is so easy to forget that we have so many of life's riches, because we are free people.

No other people are so fortunate...

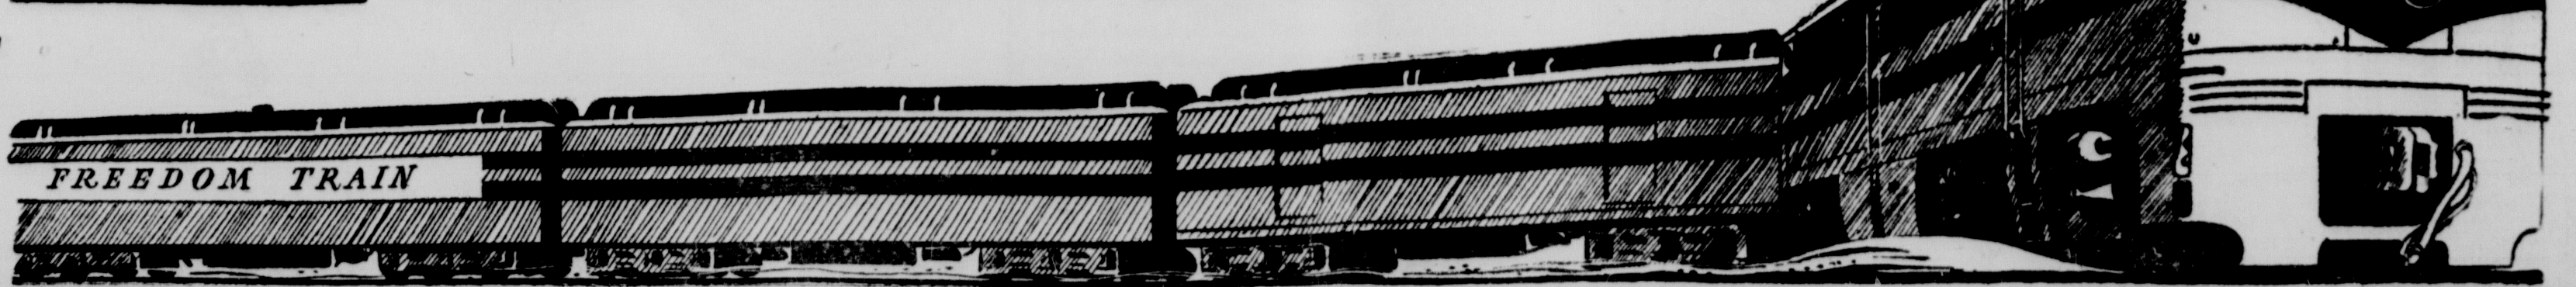

...but for walking, we have the best shoes in all the world...
...and we can, on the average earn enough money in 7 1/4 hours to buy a pair of good shoes. But think of it... a Russian must work for more than 108 hours to buy a pair of shoes, worth much less!

...every 5 of us share one telephone
A true measuring device of good living is the telephone. There is one telephone to every 12 people in Great Britain. But in Russia 125 people share one telephone.

...and, a great majority of Americans own their own homes...
The home of our average worker, with all its furnishings... its washing machine... its plumbing... its electric refrigerators... would be a palace in most other places of the world!

We receive the benefits of 28 times more oil products...
Yes... we are the oil-usingest people in all the world. It is safe to say that we use 28 times more oil products per person in just one year than any other people in the world.

remember... Freedom is everybody's business!

Soil Tests Urged By Ag Agent

Other Factors Needed, Claim

Having your soil tested to find its plant food needs, is a good deal like going to your doctor for a health checkup. Larry A. Best, Pickaway County agricultural agent, said Wednesday.

"The tests a doctor makes are important, but he doesn't depend on them alone," Best declared.

"Besides taking your pulse, temperature and respiration, and checking your heart, chest and kidneys, he will ask you how hard you've been working, what you've been eating, how many hours sleep you're getting and how your appetite and digestion are behaving," he declared and added:

"When he has all the facts, he's ready for a diagnosis. It's pretty much the same way with your soil. If you are not getting the high crop yields you think you should, just testing the soil won't give all the answers.

"A GOOD DEAL more information is necessary if yields are to be boosted. Among important questions are: What crops have been grown previously? What was the per acre yield? How has the soil been handled? How about the crop rotation? Has the soil been limed? What fertilizer treatment has it had? What is the soil's slope, drainage, and had badly has it been eroded?

"Good soil tests from carefully taken samples and properly interpreted can help you do a better job of liming and fertilizing your soil.

"Plant tissue tests and the hunger signs will help you check on the plant food the crops are actually getting.

"The use of all three of these tools—soil tests, tissue tests and hunger signs—will help you diagnose the fertilizer needs of your crops and guide you in the management practices needed for high yields and low per bushel costs."

Some phases of it were undertaken by the PAC and that queer organization of artists and writers, ICCASP, who suddenly emerged as politicians under the leadership of the sculptor, Jo Davidson. The entire enterprise, at all stages, in all its various organizational manifestations was always adequately financed. Many of them are still in existence and still have ample funds.

Who put up the money; who was the inspiration for this movement to lessen sentiment for the United States and to stimulate a universalist "One World" interest? Who put up the cash to make patriotism in this country a scarlet woman? Who headed these various organizations? Who were on the interlocking directorates? Was all the money American? A 100-year old dream of European cooperation which persists with unbelievable hardness despite the setbacks of war and rising tides of nationalism will attract world attention again this week.

The European Parliamentary Congress is meeting at Interlaken, Switzerland.

Specifically, the 250 cabinet members and legislators from every European nation between the Pyrenees and the Iron Curtain are concerned with drafting a broad statement of principles for a constitutional assembly to be called in the near future.

Two salient points probably will be developed in public or private consultations at the session, which although unofficial is expected to provide a definite clue as to whether a European federation on the lines of the 48 American states is feasible.

One is the hesitancy of Great Britain's Labor Government to commit itself formally in support of the plan despite a fervent appeal from Winston Churchill, one of its leading protagonists.

The other is the evolution of a plan by which Soviet Russia and her satellite nations eventually may be induced to throw off their cloak of isolation and participate.

IT IS A foregone conclusion that in the interests of peace and understanding, the conference probably will studiously avoid the appearance of setting itself up as a "Western Bloc" although that is the interpretation which Moscow undoubtedly will place upon it.

In this regard, the meeting will follow the example of the recent Brussels conference when Great Britain and France, together with the Benelux nations of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg achieved military, political and cultural unity but insisted that the door was open for participation by other nations.

Backers of a united states of Europe proposal are convinced that this five-power agreement, by which Belgium and Holland abandoned traditional neutrality for the ostensible purpose of preventing another German war, is the logical precursor of a federated Europe.

They believe also that the United Nations, despite its undeniable difficulties, affords a proof that cooperation among nations is possible on a broad scale.

They point to the fact that bitter UN Security Council battles and sharp exchanges of opinion on matters such as Palestine, the world organization is functioning with marked success in fields such as culture, health and rehabilitation.

The agenda calls for detailed discussions of matters such as an international currency and elimination of customs barriers.

Those who favor a common tongue probably will voice their suggestions also, but experience has shown the virtual impossibility of eradicating European nationalism to this extreme degree.

Most important is the fact that the men and women gathering at Interlaken resent being looked upon as idealists, dreamers or pacifists. They feel that they have found a practical approach to a thorny problem which bristles with grim reality.

Air Scouts Plan Exhibit At Fair Here

2 Engines Due To Center Show

Air Scout Squadron 84 is planning to enter three aeronautical exhibits in the Pickaway County Fair Sept. 14-18.

A Pratt-Whitney 450-horsepower engine will be the central attraction of the exhibit, and will be flanked by a Continental A-65 65-horsepower engine and an instrument panel.

The Pratt-Whitney exhibit is a nine cylinder radial engine which was formerly used in Army and Navy basic trainers such as the AT-6 or SNJ. The large engine was donated to the group by employees of the Elsea-Harmon airport, where the Scouts hold their meetings.

The Continental A-65 is an engine taken from one of the light two-place ships which burned in the recent hangar fire at Amanda. The instrument panel is also from one of the burned ships.

THE AIR SCOUTS are to recondition both the Continental engine and the instrument board before exhibiting them.

The eight local Air Scouts will illustrate how planes are covered with fabric at the fair. Don Hill is the Squadron Pilot of the local group. Other members including Dave Snyder, Warren Harmon Jr., Dick Blaney, Bob Workman, Karl Johnson, Gene Clifton and Tom Brannon. Jim Janetsky is squadron leader.

Air Scouts Plan Exhibit At Fair Here

2 Engines Due To Center Show

Air Scout Squadron 84 is planning to enter three aeronautical exhibits in the Pickaway County Fair Sept. 14-18.

A Pratt-Whitney 450-horse-power engine will be the central attraction of the exhibit, and will be flanked by a Continental A-65 65-horsepower engine and an instrument panel.

The Pratt-Whitney exhibit is a nine cylinder radial engine which was formerly used in Army and Navy basic trainers such as the AT-6 or SNJ. The large engine was donated to the group by employees of the Elsea-Harmon airport, where the Scouts hold their meetings.

The Continental A-65 is an engine taken from one of the light two-place ships which burned in the recent hangar fire at Amanda. The instrument panel is also from one of the burned ships.

THE AIR SCOUTS are to recondition both the Continental engine and the instrument board before exhibiting them.

The eight local Air Scouts will illustrate how planes are covered with fabric at the fair.

Don Hill is the Squadron Pilot of the local group. Other members including Dave Snyder, Warren Harmon Jr., Dick Blaney, Bob Workman, Karl Johnson, Gene Clifton and Tom Brannon. Jim Janetsky is squadron leader.

Isaly's Comes Through, Cops Annual Softball Meet Here

Isaly substantiated the fact they had fielded the best softball team in Circleville during the 1948 season Tuesday night in Ted Lewis Park by edging Boyers softballers 6-5 to cop the Circleville Softball League tournament championship.

Isaly added the tourney championship to its other laurels received in Circleville competition, which meant that all three of the honor events of the season fell to the Dairy-men during the season. Isalys won the first and second round of regular league play prior to its Tuesday victory over the Sandwichmen.

The Tuesday tourney title tilt was the last of the Circleville softball games scheduled in the city park.

Isalys gained its tourney title by staging a three run last inning rally, having trailed into the final stanza by a score of 5-3.

THE RALLY was begun by Isaly Centerfielder Junior Anderson, second man up in the final frame. Anderson lined a single in his trip to the plate, and was followed by Lloyd Minor, who duplicated Anderson's feat, placing two men aboard.

Wilson Clark, Isaly third baseman, rapped a single following Minor, scoring Anderson and placing Minor on third.

Minor scored the tying run a few pitches later when Boyer Catcher Ernest Ankrom let a pitch get through him, and the winning score was tallied by Clark when Isaly Catcher Leon Sims connected. Boyers chose to cut off the run at home plate, but Ankrom dropped the ball on the play.

Although Isalys posted a final record of nine hits for the fracas, none of the Isaly safeties was good for an extra base. Boyers, credited with seven hits for the match, posted five extra base hits.

Boyer Centerfielder Jay Gregg poled the longest ball of the game, a homerun to centerfield. Ernest Ankrom was second in batting honors for the tilt, rapping a triple and a double in three trips to plate. Steve Jones and Dave Ballard of Boyers each blasted triples in the encounter.

Teams Enter Last Month Of Scramble

Boudreau Facing Bruce Of Awards

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—Baseball's mad scramble for team and individual honors enters its final month today with doubt and a variety of possibilities surrounding both cases.

As the stretch run hovers closer daily it is apparent that the Cleveland Indians possibly could take most of the Valuable Player and Rookie of the Year awards plus the Manager of the Year, and a handful of titles.

Many of these honors hinge upon winning a pennant. But if Cleveland can win her first flag in 28 years, then Manager Lou Boudreau may cop a majority of the honors.

It would be hard to shun him as manager of the year, he certainly is his team's most valuable player, and currently Boudreau is in a virtual tie with Boston's Ted Williams for the American League batting championship.

Boudreau put on quite a show last night as Cleveland whipped the Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 1. He got three hits—a single, double, and triple—to lead his club to victory, and in the ninth, when Rookie Gene Bearden loaded the bases with none out, Boudreau inserted Bob Lemon and the A's didn't score.

THE OTHER first division clubs also won in night games. The Boston Red Sox belted three Detroit pitchers to win 8 to 4 and give Rookie Lefthander Mel Parnell his 11th win, eight of them under the lights.

The New York Yankees nipped a runner at home to stem a ninth-inning rally to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 10 to 9. The Browns came up with five runs but Whitey Platt was nailed at home when he tried to score on Dick Kokos's double.

Allie Reynolds scored his 15th win. Cliff Fannin was the loser. Washington's Sid Hudson hurled a four-hit, 7 to 1 win over the Chicago White Sox to score his first victory since June 20.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers fell twice before the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 0, and 7 to 2. Hank Borowy pitched a one-hitter in the opener and faced only 27 men in the process. The other National League first-division teams moved up on the first-place Dodgers.

The Boston Braves moved into a virtual first-place tie with Brooklyn, 3 to 1, over Cincinnati, on Red Barrett's seven-hit pitching and Frank McCormick's two-run homer in the sixth.

The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for three runs in the seventh to defeat the New York Giants, 5 to 4, and extend New York's losing streak to seven straight. Johnny Mize hit his 32nd homer off Winner Elmer Riddle.

The Cardinal's George Munger shut out the Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 0, on four hits to keep St. Louis in the running.

Jacobs Signs Baksi, Charles

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—The 20th Century Club was making its first bid today to regain control of the heavyweight championship situation with an announcement that the unpredictable Joe Baksi and Former Light Heavyweight Ezzard Charles has been matched for Nov. 12.

The fight significantly is scheduled for the championship distance of 15 rounds.

The Mike Jacobs' organization has been inactive in the heavyweight division since Joe Louis retained his title with a June knockout over Jersey Joe Walcott.

Meanwhile, Walcott and Gus Lesnevich, former light heavyweight champion, are under contract to box for the rival Tournament of Champions, Inc., on the Zale-Cerdan show, scheduled for Jersey City, Sept. 21.

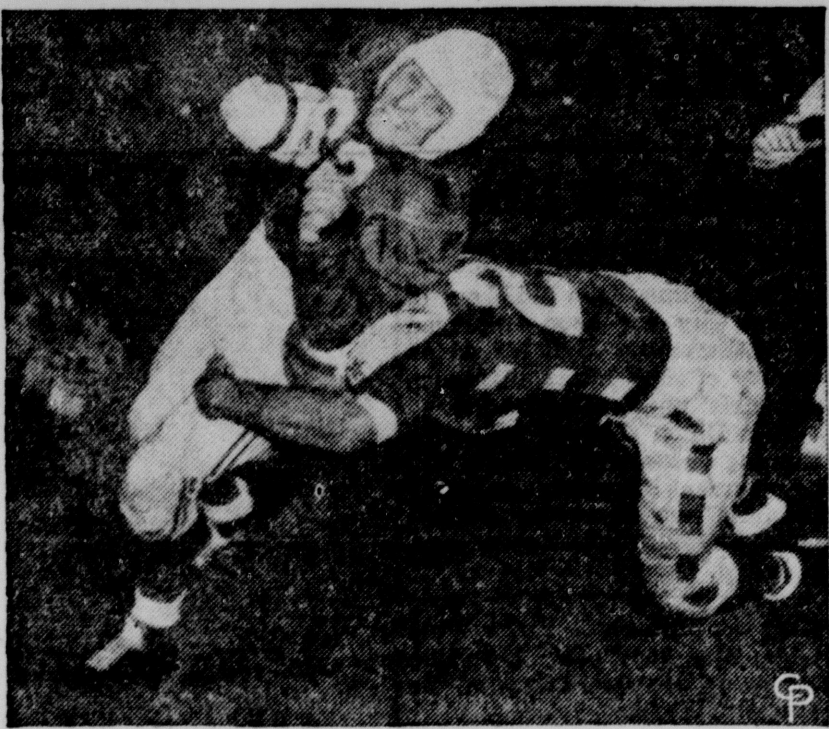

Mt. Sterling Plans Finale

The Mt. Sterling softball season is to be terminated at 9 p. m. Thursday night with one of the most outstanding games of the year.

The Mt. Sterling Merchants, undefeated in eight home contests this year, are to meet the Delaware Indians, who have been defeated only twice in 34 starts.

Principal attraction to Mt. Sterling fans will be the mound duel between... the Merchant's Todd McKinney and the Indian's George Buchanan.

Preliminary to the final softball match is to be a contest between the Republicans and the Democrats at 7:30 p. m. No member of either team is to be under 40 years of age.

THE CHICAGO CARDINALS' Trippe is stopped by the All-Stars' Rode-meyre in first quarter of the pros' 25-to-0 victory at Soldiers' Field. But he gained enough for first down. (International)

Dons Prepping For Brown Tilt

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1—The Los Angeles Dons worked out today in Cleveland Stadium in preparation for their All-America Conference battle Friday night with the Cleveland Browns.

The Dons concentrated on offense as they ran through plays preparatory to the Browns' league opener. In Los Angeles' one conference this season, the Dons eked out a 7-0 verdict over the hapless Chicago Rockets.

Included in the Dons' luminaries pointing for Friday's battle are Glenn Dobbs and Her man Wedemeyer, two of the AAC's better passers.

Youngstown '9 Wins State Title

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 1—The Youngstown Fireproofing nine, newly-crowned state softball champion, prepared today for the amateur regional softball tournament Saturday in Buffalo.

Nelson Larson of the Youngstown squad fired a 13-inning, 1-0, no-hit win over the Mansfield Gorman-Rupp, entry to lead his mates to the state title here last night.

Larson set a tournament record by striking out 23 men in the 13-frame contest.

Tre Vit Heads Entries In 'Cap

CHICAGO, Sept. 1—Tre Vit, recent winner over the fast-stepping Coaltown, heads the list of 10 fillies and mares that go to the post today in the $30,000 added Beverly Handicap at Washington Park.

Two strong contenders to Tre Vit are Dixiana Stable's Four Winds, which packs the heaviest weight at 123 pounds, and W. L. Ranch's Honeycomb. Both Tre Vit and Honeycomb pack 121 pounds.

Horse Trainer Who Worked Here Is Given Boot

Lou Huber Jr., Cincinnati harness horse trainer who with his father trained at Pickaway Fairgrounds last Winter, was one of seven drivers placed under indefinite suspension Wednesday for alleged infractions of rules at the recent Brentlawn meeting in Louisville, Ky.

In addition, an official was banned for life for using a forged starter's license.

Announcement of the penalties was made in DuQuoin, Ill., by Henry Knauf, president of the U.S. Trotting Association. Six drivers were set down on charges they staged a fixed race in which Kay Castle was allowed to win although much slower than her field.

The pacer's driver, Herman Stepro, of Corydon, Ind., was suspended along with the other participants in the race—George Rattenberg, Muncie, Ind.; Joe Shepard, South Beloit, Ill.; Art Phillips, Newton, Ill.; Harold Snodgrass, Shelbyville, Ind.; and Huber.

THE SEVENTH driver set down was Oscar Mapes, whose trotter, Mighty Way, showed positive evidence of benzadrine after a race at Brentlawn. Both horse and driver were barred from all tracks pending further investigation. The horse is owned by E. R. Galt of Chicago.

Harry B. Clark of Indianapolis was set down for life on the grounds that he operated as a starter under a faked license at a LaPorte, Ind., fair meeting.

59 Gridders Vie For OSU Berths

COLUMBUS, Sept. 1—Fifty-nine earnest young men got down to the serious business of trying to win places for themselves on Wes Fesler's second Ohio State university gridiron machine today.

The pigskin aspirants had it easy yesterday—officially the first day of the fall practice sessions. But, because of the rules which limit practice to three weeks and three days or drills before the opening game, the hardest task they were called upon to perform was to pose for photographers.

In preparation for the lid-lifter against Missouri of the Big Six Conference Sept. 25, Fesler is calling for two workouts a day. Labor Day will be just that—no holiday for the Scarlet and Gray.

Obscure Aussie Seen Top Hand In Tennis Test

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—It seems that the best tennis player in advance of the Davis Cup challenge round this weekend is neither Ted Schroeder nor Frankie Parker, America's expected single nominees. Nor apparently does Australians Team Captain Adrain Quist qualify for that distinction.

It goes, instead, to a man who was unknown and unwanted in international play a year ago—Australia's Billy Sidwell.

At least that's what Vincent Richards indicated today in designation Sidwell as a pre-challenge round "stepper" who could and very well might, wind up dominating both singles and doubles in the three-day fiesta.

Richards named no names in rating Sidwell potentially with the top hands of tennis for the last 25 years. But he seemed to cover everything adequately with this blanket assertion:

"He (Sidwell) would give plenty of trouble to anybody I ever saw or played against."

RIGHT NOW, Richards is operating with the Australian challengers in an advisory capacity without remuneration.

The ovation for Sidwell followed three days of intensive practice with the latest Australian menace, in which Richards apparently found himself consistently caught with his trousers a-drape.

Sidwell went to Wimbledon a year ago "on his own" without bounty and attracted more than passing notice.

In America, he reached the doubles with Billy Talbert, being beaten only by the flawless Kramer-Schroeder combination.

He achieved international stature a few weeks ago by winning from the Czech master, Jaroslav Drobny, in the Davis Cup inter-zone finals at Boston. Then sent Australia through to the challenge round by beating the other Czech, Cernik, in the last singles.

Columbus Facing Tribe In Crucial Battle In AA

Columbus takes on league-leading Indianapolis tonight in the second of a three game series that may well determine the first, third and fourth teams in the American Association pennant race.

The third place Red Birds dropped a 3-2 heartbreaker to Indianapolis last night by virtue of a three-run Indian rally in the seventh that put the Indians within a couple of games of the flag. The Birds scored in the fourth and again in the seventh. The victory went to Chet Johnson and Clarence Beers was tagged with the defeat.

Meanwhile, St. Paul struggled mightily to eke out a 13-12 win in 10 innings at Milwaukee, to advance within half a game of the Red Birds. The game didn't much affect the second place Brewers, but it sure had Columbus in a sweat over what might happen when the same teams meet tonight.

But St. Paul was none too sure of the fourth place berth in the playoffs after Minneapolis took a double header from Kansas City, 6-3 and 8-6. They're scheduled for another go tonight, too.

In the race for those third and fourth places, as the old saying goes, "it's anybody's ballgame." Toledo, sitting firmly on the neck of last-place Louisville, won a 5-0 bout.

The Mt. Sterling Merchants, undefeated in eight home contests this year, are to meet the Delaware Indians, who have been defeated only twice in 34 starts.

Principal attraction to Mt. Sterling fans will be the mound duel between...the Merchant's Todd McKinney and the Indian's George Buchanan.

Preliminary to the final softball match is to be a contest between the Republicans and the Democrats at 7:30 p. m. No member of either team is to be under 40 years of age.

THE CHICAGO CARDINALS' Trippe is stopped by the All-Stars' Rodemeyer in first quarter of the pros' 28-to-0 victory at Soldiers' Field. But he gained enough for first down. (International)

Dons Prepping For Brown Tilt

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1—The Los Angeles Dons worked out today in Cleveland Stadium in preparation for their All-American Conference battle Friday night with the Cleveland Browns.

The Dons concentrated on offense as they ran through plays preparatory to the Browns' league opener. In Los Angeles' one conference this season, the Dons eked out a 7-0 verdict over the hapless Chicago Rockets.

Included in the Dons' luminaries pointing for Friday's battle are Glenn Dobbs and Herman Wedemeyer, two of the AAC's better passers.

Youngstown '9 Wins State Title

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 1—The Youngstown Fireproofing nine, newly-crowned state softball champion, prepared today for the amateur regional softball tournament Saturday in Buffalo.

Nelson Larson of the Youngstown squad fired a 13-inning, 1-0, no-hit win over the Mansfield Gorman-Rupp, entry to lead his mates to the state title here last night.

Larson set a tournament record by striking out 23 men in the 13-frame contest.

Tre Vit Heads Entries In 'Cap

CHICAGO, Sept. 1—Tre Vit, recent winner over the fast-pitching Coaltown, heads the list of 10 fillies and mares that go to the post today in the $30,000 added Beverly Handicap at Washington Park.

Two strong contenders to Tre Vit are Dixiana Stable's Four Winds, which packs the heaviest weight at 123 pounds, and W. L. Ranch's Honeymoon. Both Tre Vit and Honeymoon pack 121 pounds.

Obscure Aussie Seen Top Hand In Tennis Test

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—It seems that the best tennis player in advance of the Davis Cup challenge round this weekend is neither Ted Schroeder nor Frankie Parker, America's expected single nominees. Nor apparently does Australians Team Captain Adrian Quist qualify for that distinction.

It goes, instead, to a man who was unknown and unwanted in international play a year ago—Australia's Billy Sidwell.

At least that's what Vincent Richards indicated today in designating Sidwell as a pre-challenge round "stepper" who could and very well might, wind up dominating both singles and doubles in the three-day fiesta.

Richards named no names in rating Sidwell potentially with the top hands of tennis for the last 25 years. But he seemed to cover everything adequately with this blanket assertion:

"He (Sidwell) would give plenty of trouble to anybody I ever saw or played against."

RIGHT NOW, Richards is operating with the Australian challengers in an advisory capacity without remuneration.

The ovation for Sidwell followed three days of intensive practice with the latest Australian menace, in which Richards apparently found himself consistently caught with his trousers a-drape.

Sidwell went to Wimbledon a year ago "on his own" without bounty and attracted more than passing notice.

In America, he reached the doubles with Billy Talbert, being beaten only by the flawless Kramer-Schroeder combination.

He achieved international stature a few weeks ago by winning from the Czech master, Jaroslav Drobny, in the Davis Cup interzone finals at Boston. Then sent Australia through to the challenge round by beating the other Czech, Cernik, in the last singles.

Columbus Facing Tribe In Crucial Battle In AA

Columbus takes on league-leading Indianapolis tonight in the second of a three game series that may well determine the first, third and fourth teams in the American Association pennant race.

The third place Red Birds dropped a 3-2 heartbreaker to Indianapolis last night by virtue of a three-run Indian rally in the seventh that put the Indians within a couple of games of the flag. The Birds scored in the fourth and again in the seventh. The victory went to Chet Johnson and Clarence Beers was tagged with the defeat.

Meanwhile, St. Paul struggled mightily to eke out a 13-12 win in 10 innings at Milwaukee, to advance within half a game of the Red Birds. The game didn't much affect the second place Brewers, but it sure had Columbus in a sweat over what might happen when the same teams meet tonight.

But St. Paul was none too sure of the fourth place berth in the playoffs after Minneapolis took a double header from Kansas City, 6-3 and 8-6. They're scheduled for another go tonight, too.

In the race for those third and fourth places, as the old saying goes, "it's anybody's ballgame." Toledo, sitting firmly on the neck of last-place Louisville, won a 5-0 bout.

59 Gridders Vie For OSU Berths

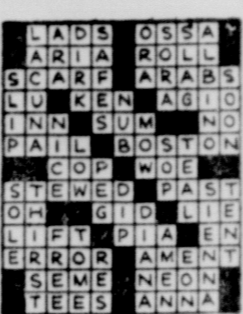

COLUMBUS, Sept. 1—Fifty-nine earnest young men got down to the serious business of trying to win places for themselves on Wes Fessler's second Ohio State university gridiron machine today.

The pigskin aspirants had it easy yesterday—officially the first day of the fall practice sessions. But, because of the rules which limit practice to three weeks and three days or drills before the opening game, the hardest task they were called upon to perform was to pose for photographers.

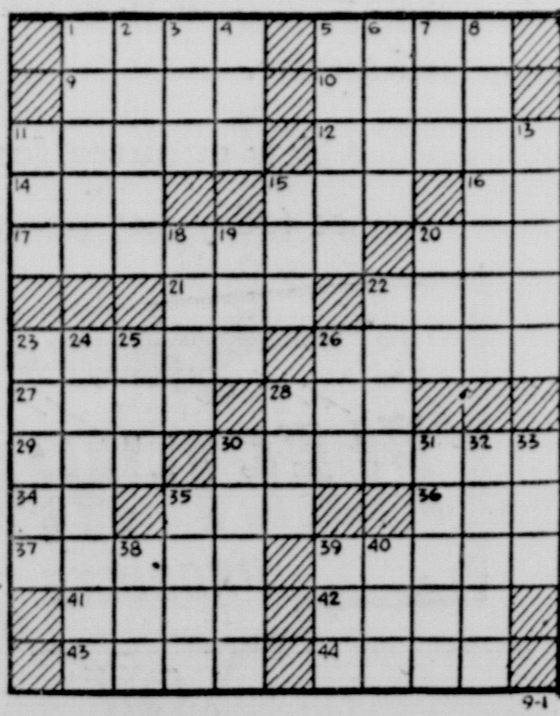

In preparation for the lid-lifter against Missouri of the Big Six Conference Sept. 25, Fessler is calling for two workouts a day. Labor Day will be just that: no holiday for the Scarlet and Gray.

Pickaway 4-H Clubbers Copping Honors At State Fair

14 Laurels Collected Already

More Winners Are Expected

Honors are being heaped on Pickaway County 4-H Club members from their exhibits and projects at the Ohio State Fair.

So far, 14 honors have been reaped by the local 4-H'ers, including three firsts, three seconds, two thirds, two fourths, one fifth, two sixths, and one seventh.

Robert Baum of Ashville copped one of the firsts by exhibiting the champion heifer of the 4-H Angus breeder's show, closely followed by Arthur Dick of Five Points who took second place in the Senior Angus division and Jack Timmons of Five Points who garnered second place in the Junior Angus division.

Bruce Dountz and his brother Fred of Orient won the first three places in the Yorkshire gilt exhibit, Bruce taking the top position while Fred gained the second and third place spots.

George Courtright of Ashville topped competition in the Poland China Gilt show, winning the first place money with his project.

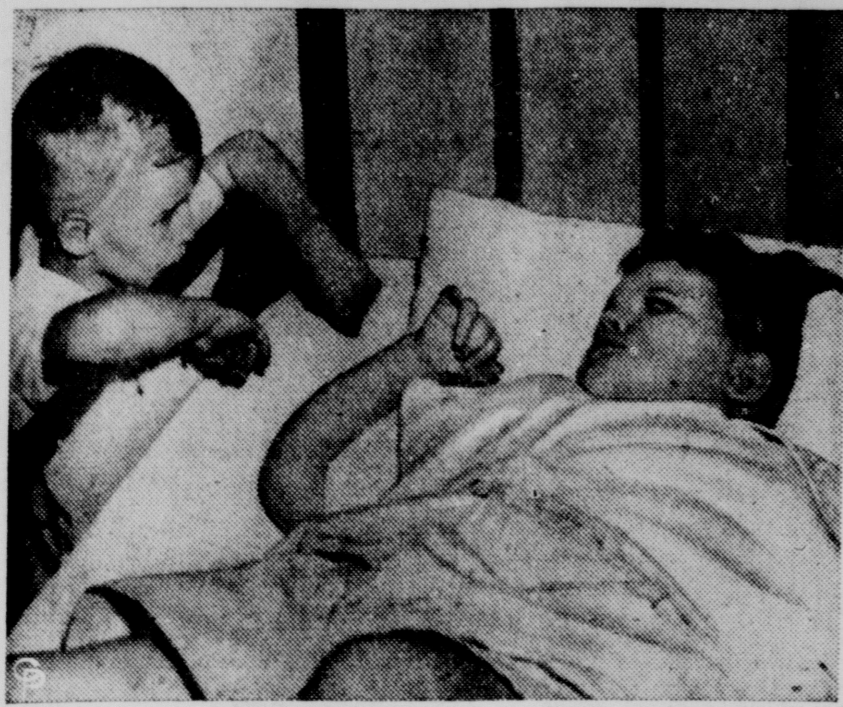

Darrell Candy of Williamsport won two places in the spotted Poland China Gilt class, a ribbon each for third and fourth positions.

Courtright also took fourth in the Market Barrow or Gilt show, closely trailed by David Six of Ashville who placed slightly higher.

Six also placed high in the Hampshire Gilt show.

Sixth and seventh places in the Open Angus Steer show were won by Pickaway County 4-H'ers. Jack Timmons of Five Points gained the sixth place position in the show, closely trained by Katie Cromley of Ashville in the seventh place spot.

The Open showing of the

3 Wives Seek Divorces In Petitions Here

Two suits charging gross neglect and a third on grounds of extreme cruelty were the basis of divorce action taken by three wives in Pickaway County common pleas court.

In a petition filed by Bernice Ellen Fast it was stated she married Ralph E. Fast, accused of gross neglect of duty, on June 29, 1946, in Mt. Sterling.

Her petition claims Fast failed to provide for his wife and 18-month-old daughter, and that he abandoned them a short while ago. She is asking the court for alimony and custody of the child.

Meanwhile, Thomas I. Thompson was accused in a petition filed by his wife, Leah B. McClarren Thompson, of gross neglect. It was stated the couple married Oct. 23, 1928, in Circleville and they have no children.

He is cited for abandoning her in 1937 and for failing to provide for his wife. She wants to be restored to her former name of Leah B. McClarren and for any justifiable financial relief.

In the third petition now on file, Katherine Morgan is suing her husband, Charles Morgan, for divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Since they were married on Feb. 26, 1946, Mrs. Morgan said they have become the parents of one son. Her petition claims Morgan abused her physically causing her to become nervous.

She is asking the court for possession of the family car, custody of the child, proper support, possession of household furniture and a restraining order against her husband.
